Seniors Mike Harris and Victoria Boroff enjoyed dancing at the first- rate Snider semi-formal this year.

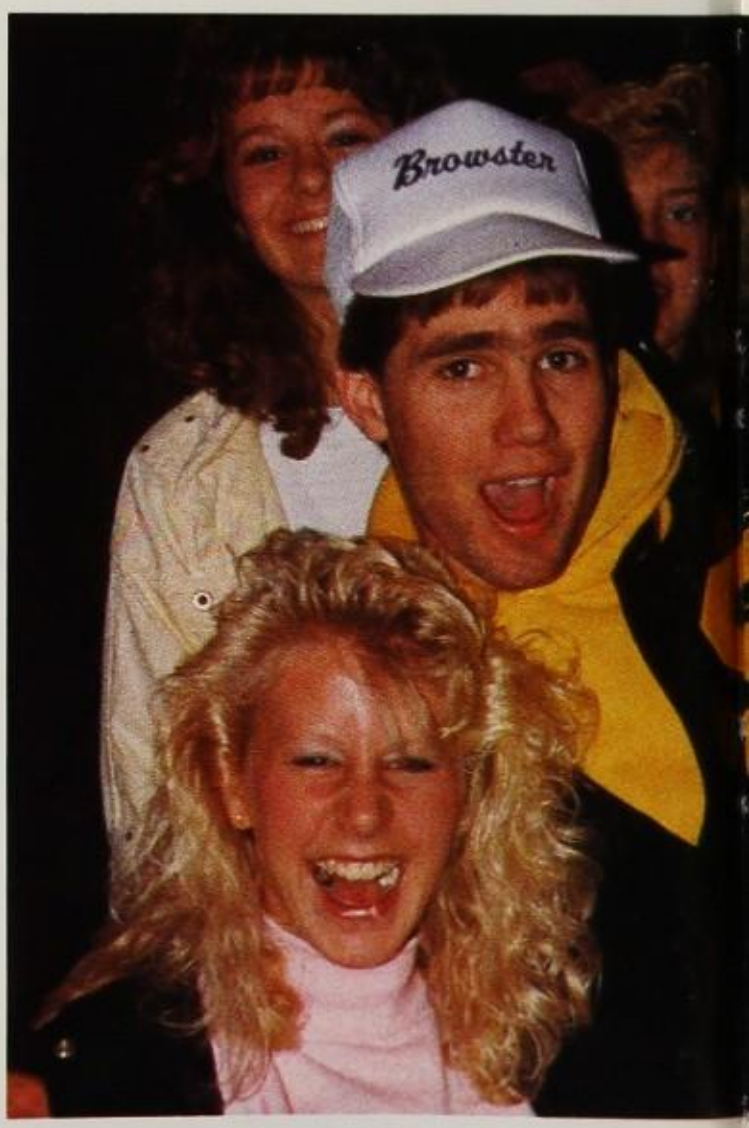
Mrs. Shaw is one of the many examples of Snider's veteran teaching staff having served over twenty years.

Through her hard work and determination, Lori Stinson achieved a third place ranking in state competition.

The 1987 volleyball team, led by Mr. Tom Beerman, Bonnie Gill, and Kelli Allison, captured the State Volleyball championship in Indianapolis.

Returning to Snider, Mr. Dennis McClurg embarks on a new challenge as principal. McClurg used to teach here.

Becky Dyer, Debbie Small, and Nikki Fultz enjoy some doughnuts during their class period as service workers for Mr. Buzzard.



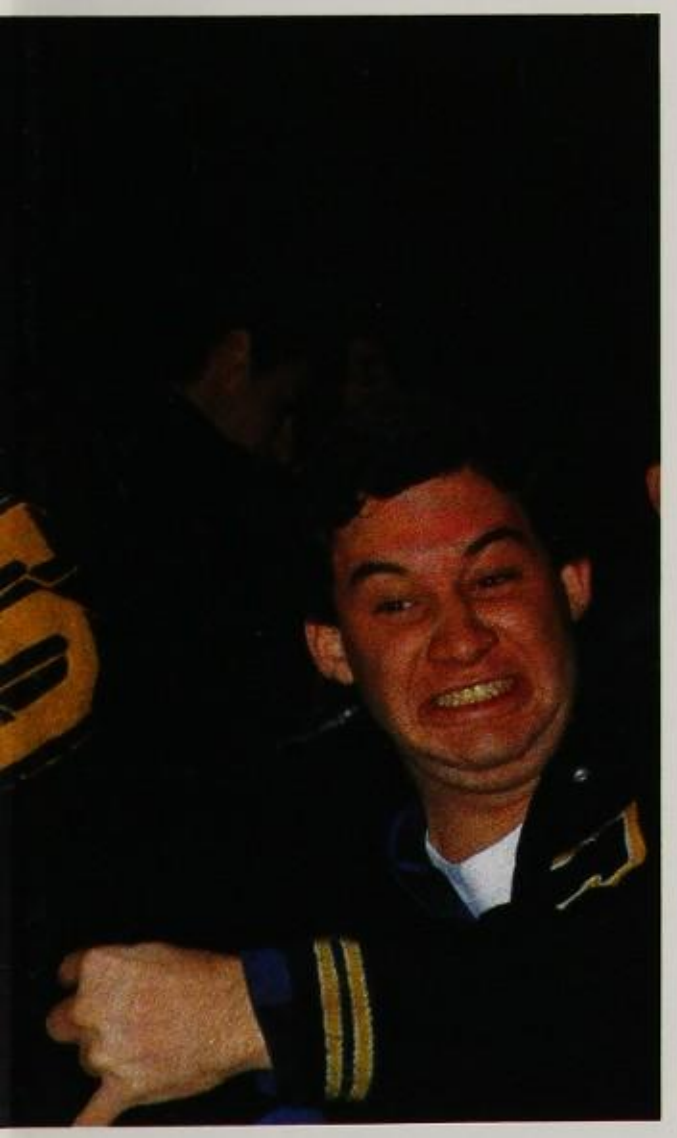
NEW CHALLENGES AHEAD

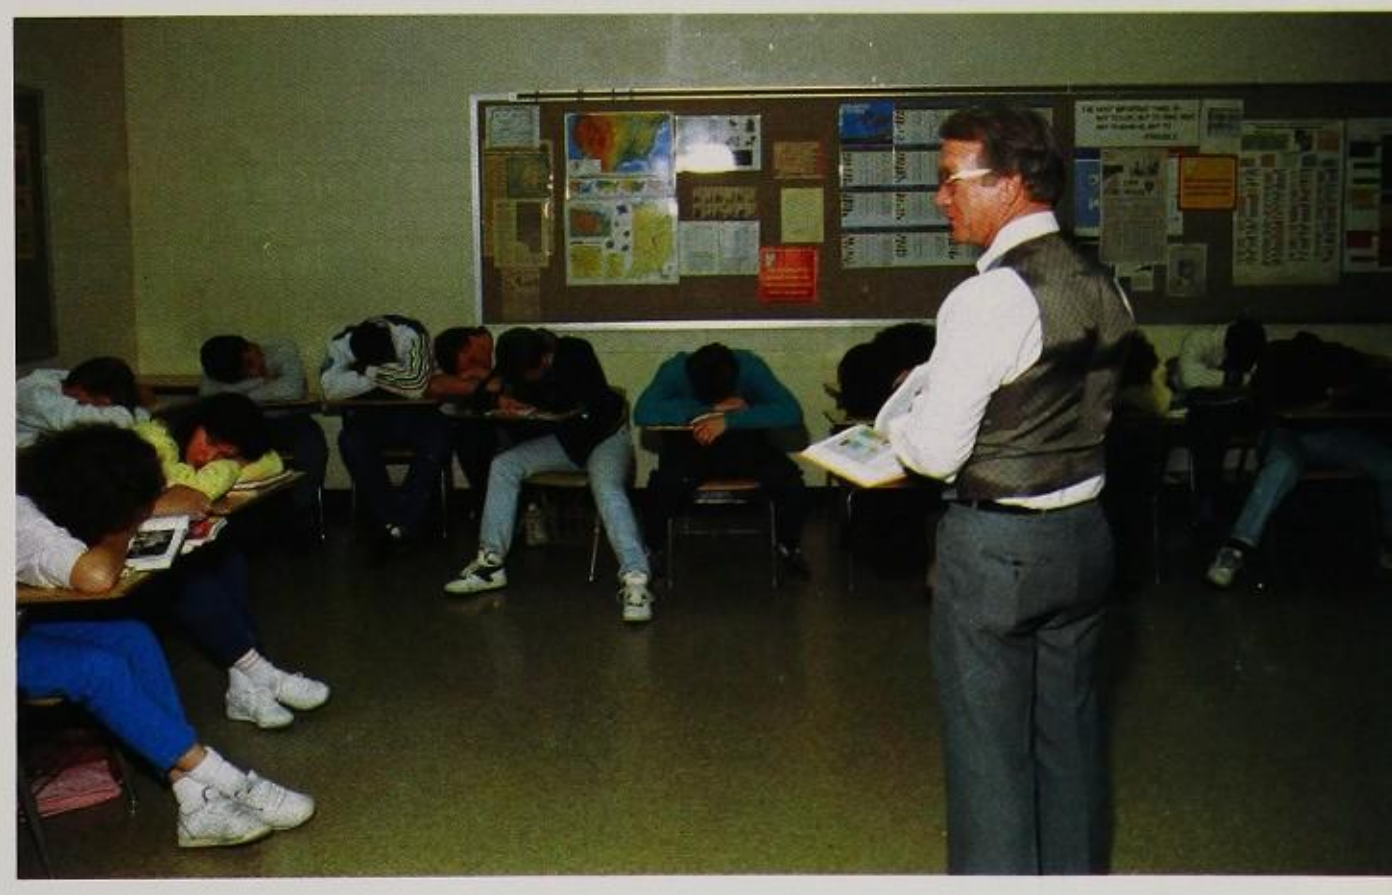
A year of firsts and a first-class year! It definitely was that for the students and faculty of R. Nelson Snider High School in 1988.

First, Mr. Dennis McClurg took on the new responsibility of principal this year. McClurg served as an administrator for Northrop High School recently and was a history teacher at Snider a while ago. Also, Mr. Gary Crawford turned over his job as the Boys' Basketball coach to Mr. Jim Rousseau. It was Rousseau's first year as head coach. The Girls' Softball team underwent drastic changes as Mr. Dennis Patterson took the young team and led them on to a successful season. Mr. Tom Beerman ended his coaching career with a bang, as the Panther Girls' Volleyball team captured the State Championship. Snider is the first Fort Wayne school to ever win state in volleyball!

While firsts occurred in the athletic program, so too did the academic requirements. Starting with the class of 1988, four credits in English will be required instead of three, and 38 credits are the minimum amount seniors can have to graduate. Along with that came the introduction of the Academic-Honors Diploma. To achieve this special diploma, students must have maintained a "B" average all four years of high school and have accumulated 47 credits. Among those credits must be six in a foreign language and two in fine arts. Another added feature was the Study Table. Originated by the Guidance Department, this time after school was devoted to any student who wanted to come in and get help in any subject. Help was available through student tutors and teachers after school.

Through academics as well as athletics, Snider students, faculty and coaches worked together to bring out the best. 1987-1988 was a year to remember- a first class year!!

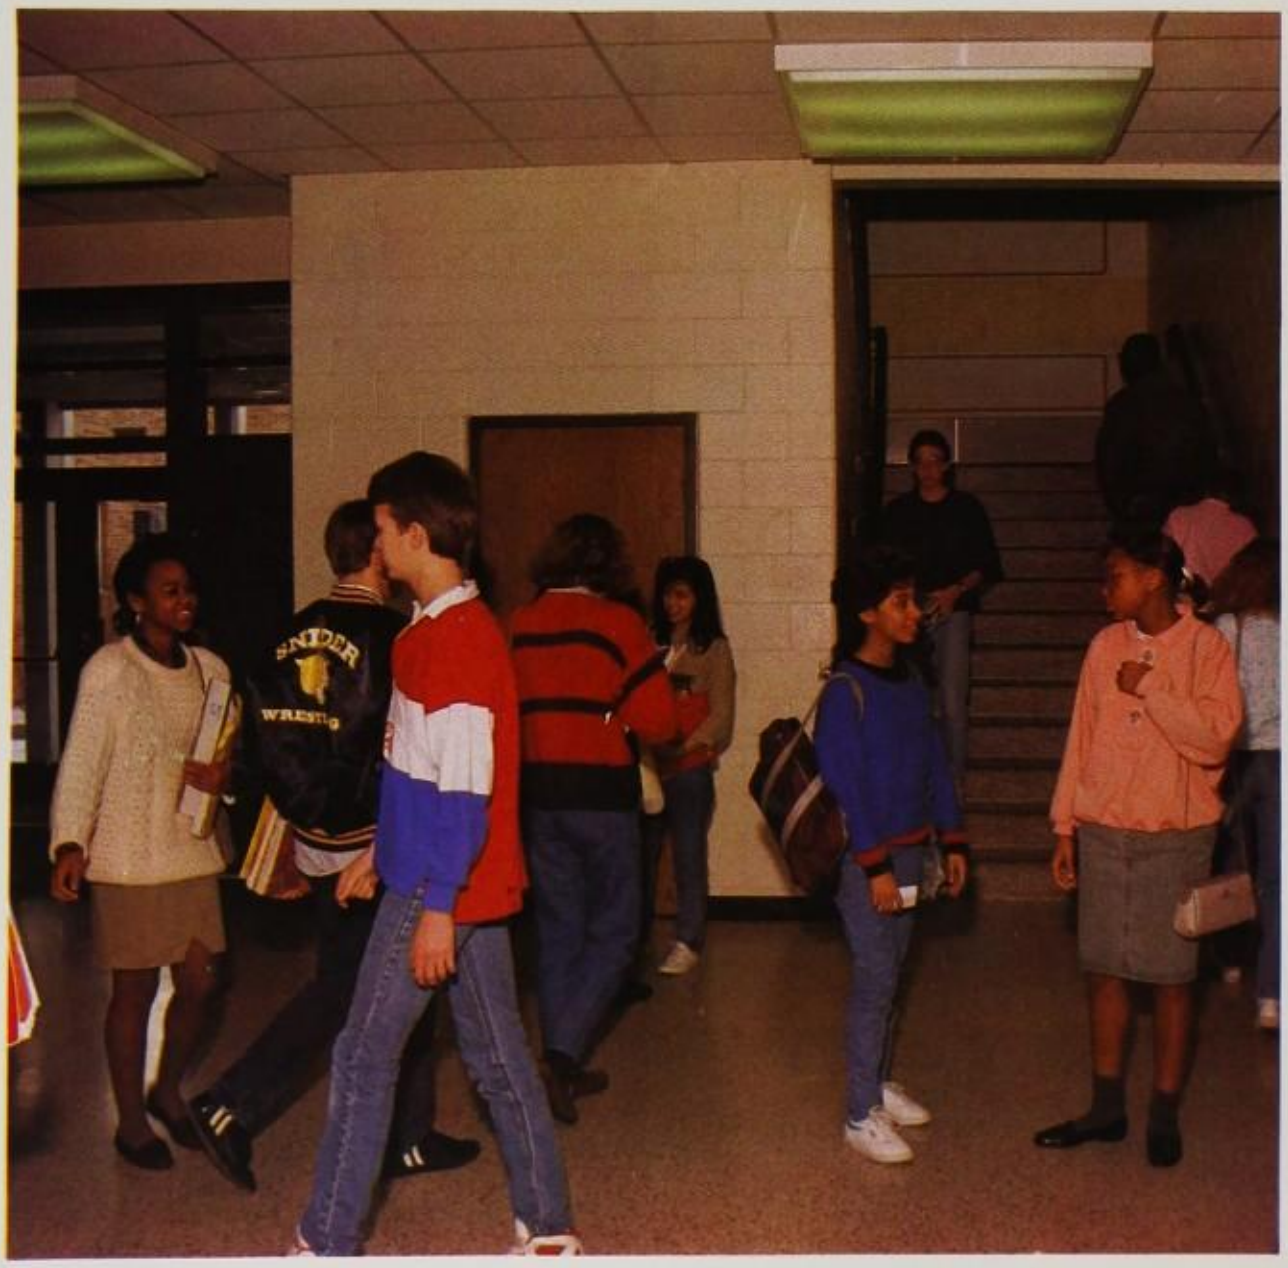




Seniors Lori Sherwin, Rhett Kilmer, and Dan Fox pull together to root the Snider Panther Football team on to another victory.

Mr. Weaver's economics class looks totally "thrilled" with the new lesson plan. These seniors are obviously ready for Spring Break and are temporarily experiencing "Spring Fever."

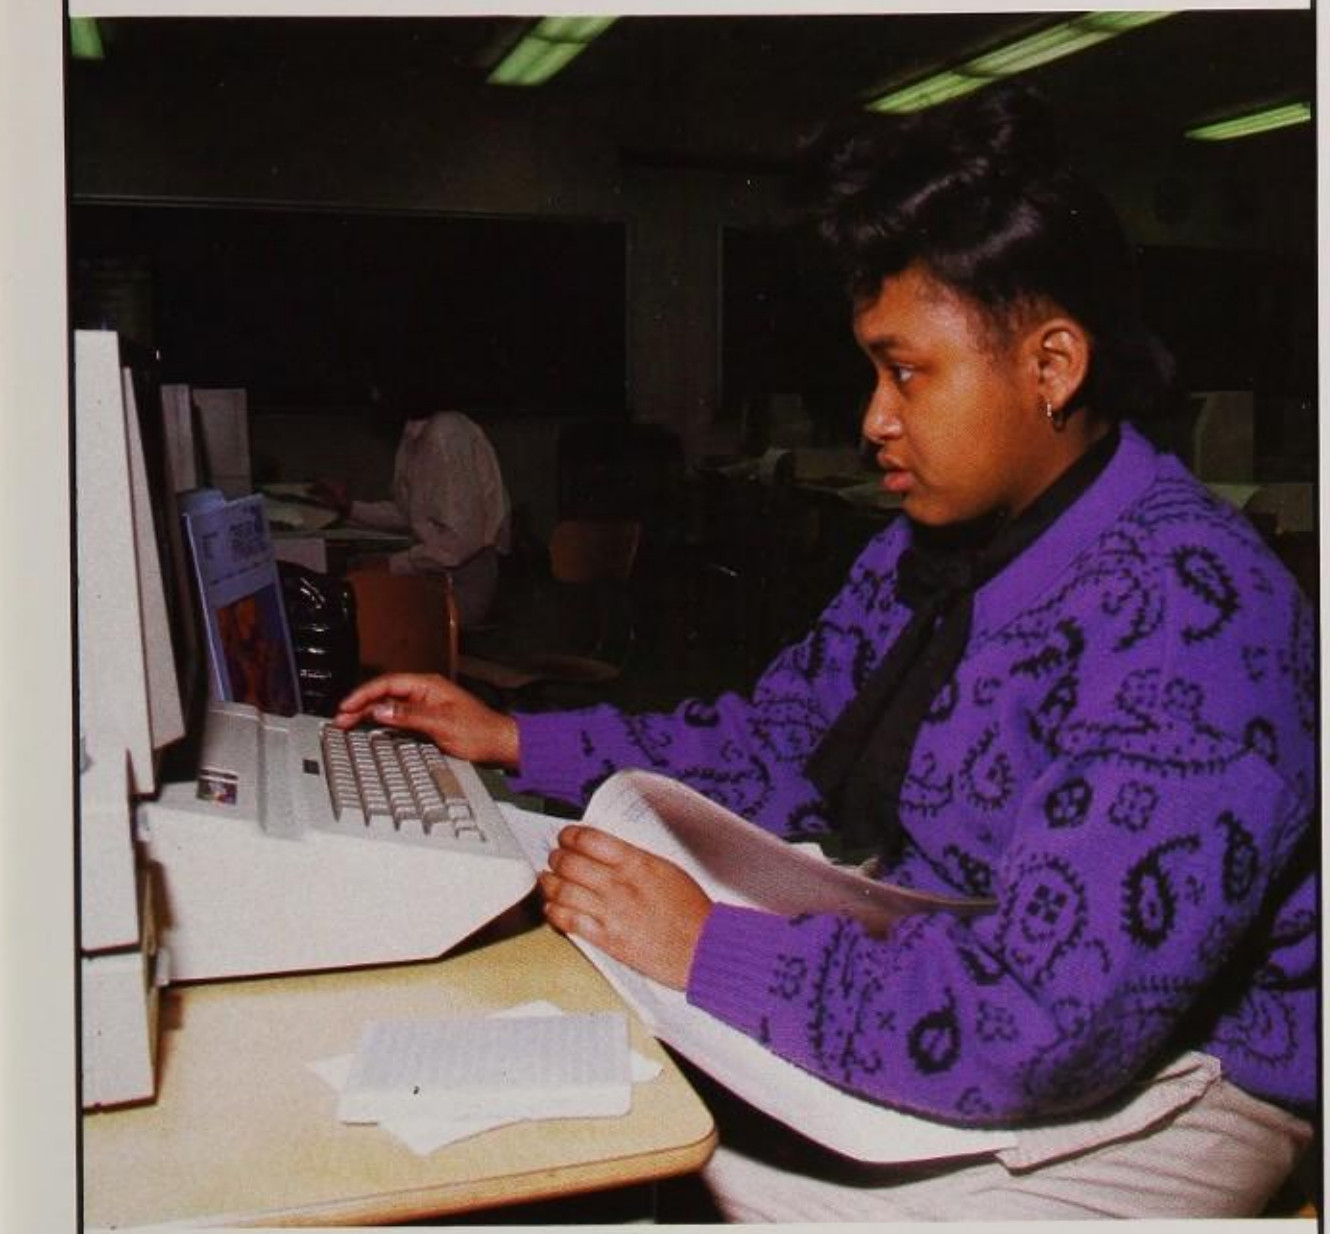
Seniors Andy Faley and Bill Frederick operate the controls in the WRNS room. Snider is the only owner of a student- run broadcasting studio.

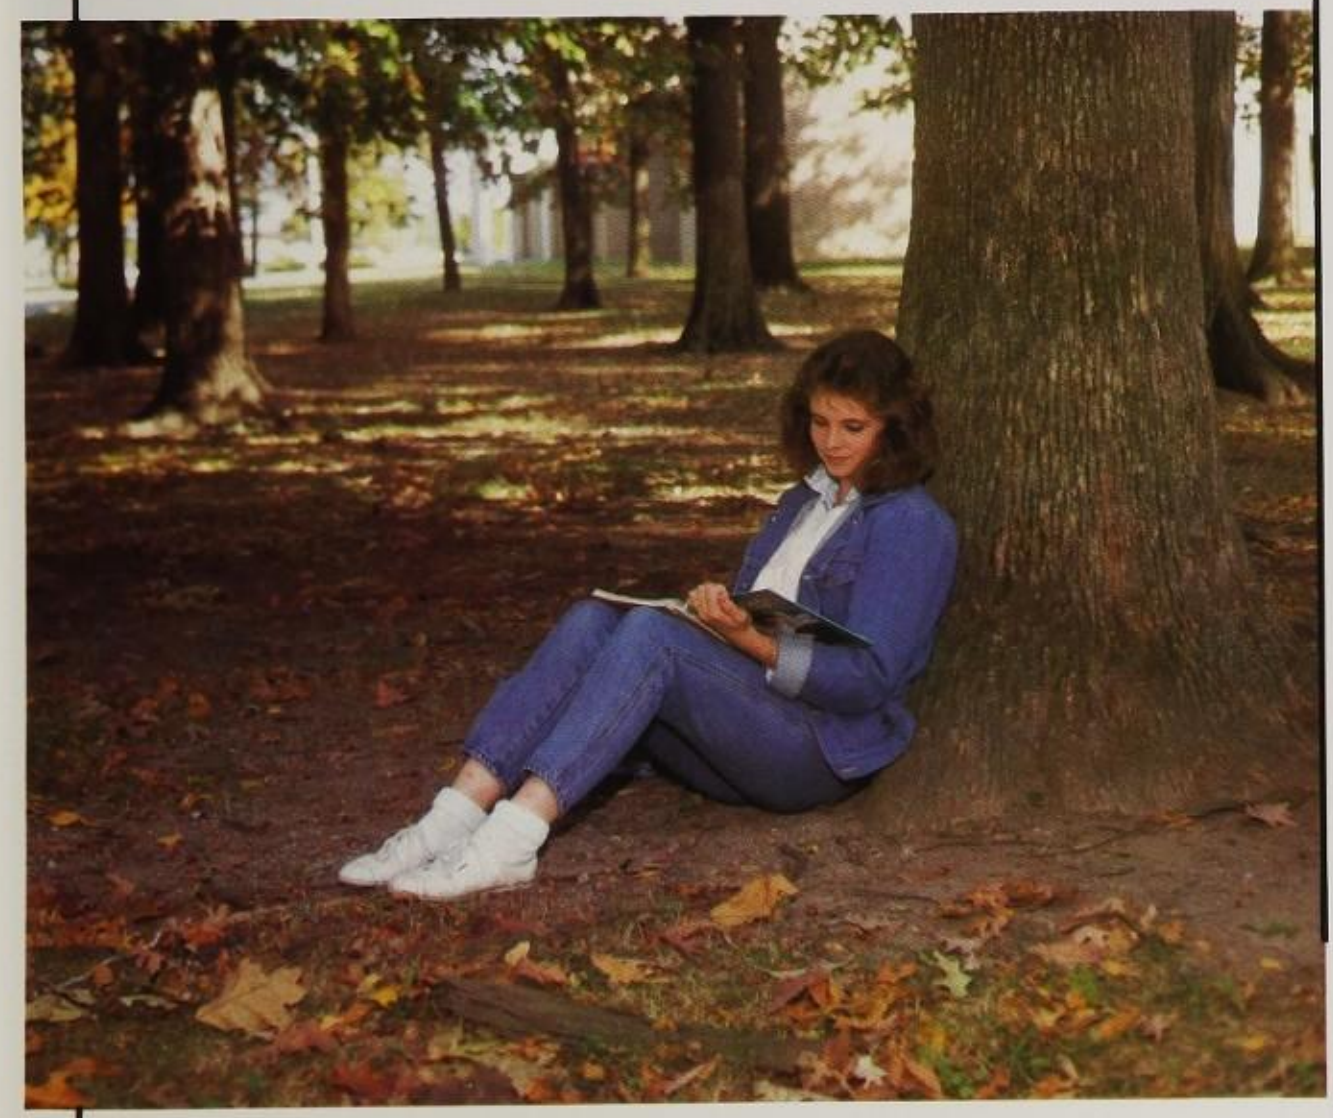


Mr. Chuck Kellogg, the head custodian at Snider, is a very important figure. With his help, many of our events are a success.

Hallways can sometimes be a jumbled traffic jam, but these students make the most of the situation and stop to talk to friends.

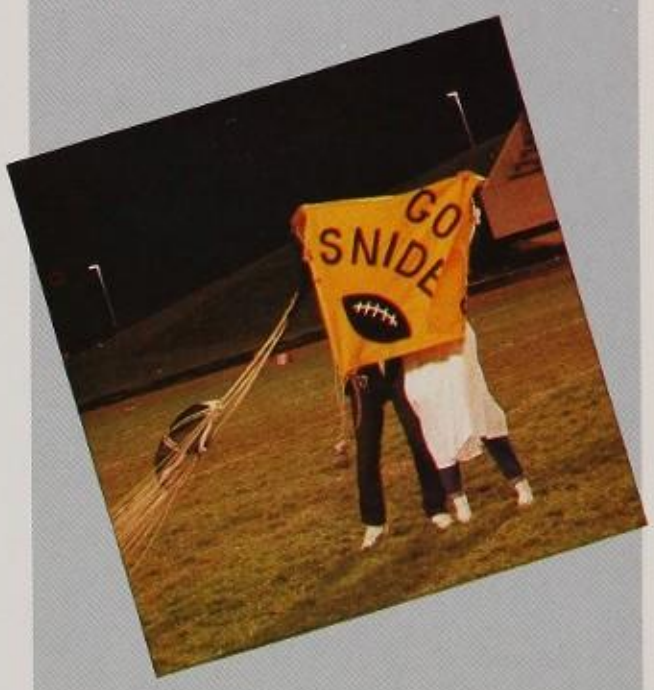
Snider boasts an exemplary computer system with many students taking advantage of these classes, including senior Catrina King.



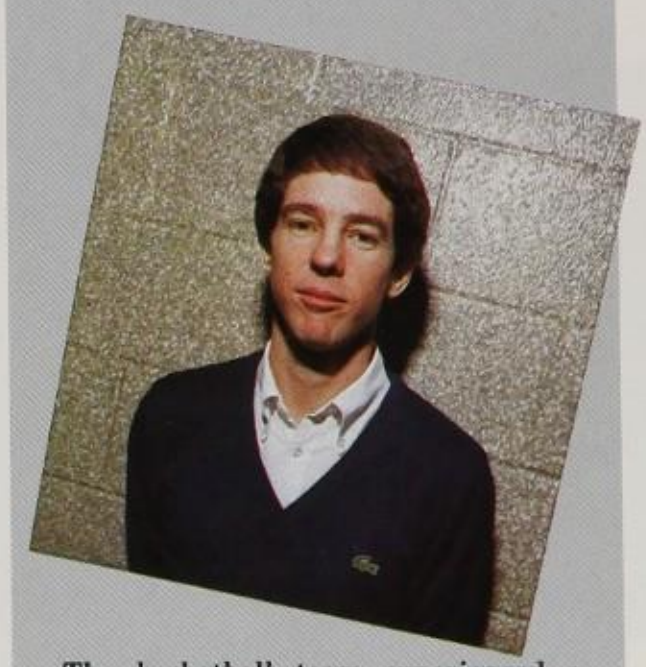


Freshman Christine Reed enjoys the quiet serenity of the Snider woods, as she looks over her homework.

Mr. Dennis Patterson, a social studies teacher, took over management of the softball team this year. The team was in its second season.



Snider's homecoming was one of the best ever. A parachutist appeared on the field before the game with the "Go Snider" banner.

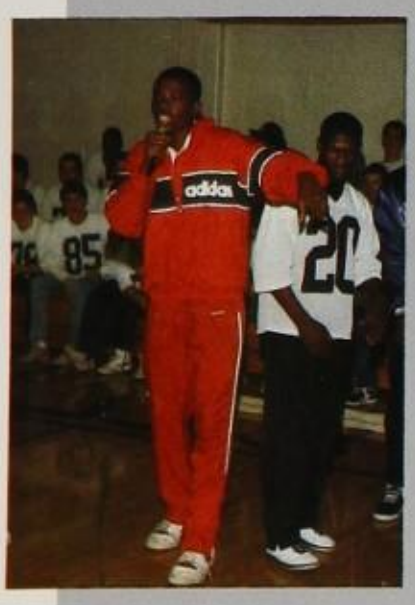


The basketball team experienced a change of coaches as well. Mr. Jim Rousseau took over the job and led the Panthers through a successful season.

PEOPLE

French teacher Judy Guthrie "heard it on the grape vine" during a fall pep session skit.

Seniors Mark Notestine and Mark Miernyk take time out after school to discuss their weekend plan.

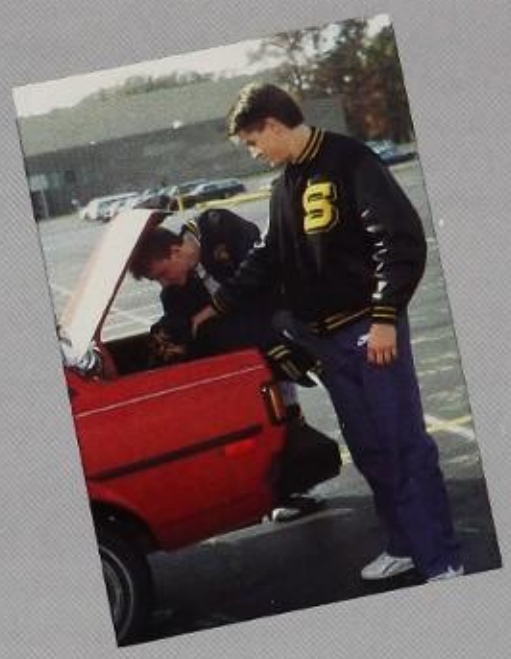


Senior Tony Gooden entertains with a rapp session for the student body and faculty.

People come in all shapes, sizes, colors and cultures and Snider High School has them all. In a large suburban school you're bound to get a wide range of abilities and interest groups and we are no exception to that rule. Families are particularly attracted to the area because of the abundance of homes and shopping areas. The Glenwood Park district has been the fastest growing neighborhood in recent years. Lots of kids help make Snider one of the two largest schools in the city if not the state.

But WE are not just a school full of bodies, WE are different people striving to make the most of a great high school we call our own. Through participation in activities, sports, clubs, choirs, band, orchestra, speech team and many other areas of interest, our school is made stronger by our caring spirit. Whether we are helping a friend get through a bad time or just preparing for a weekly test we can make the difference . "People need people" like the song says and people make Snider High School a special place to be.

After hearing that she had been chosen the 1987 Homecoming queen, Jenny Herman is overcome with joy.



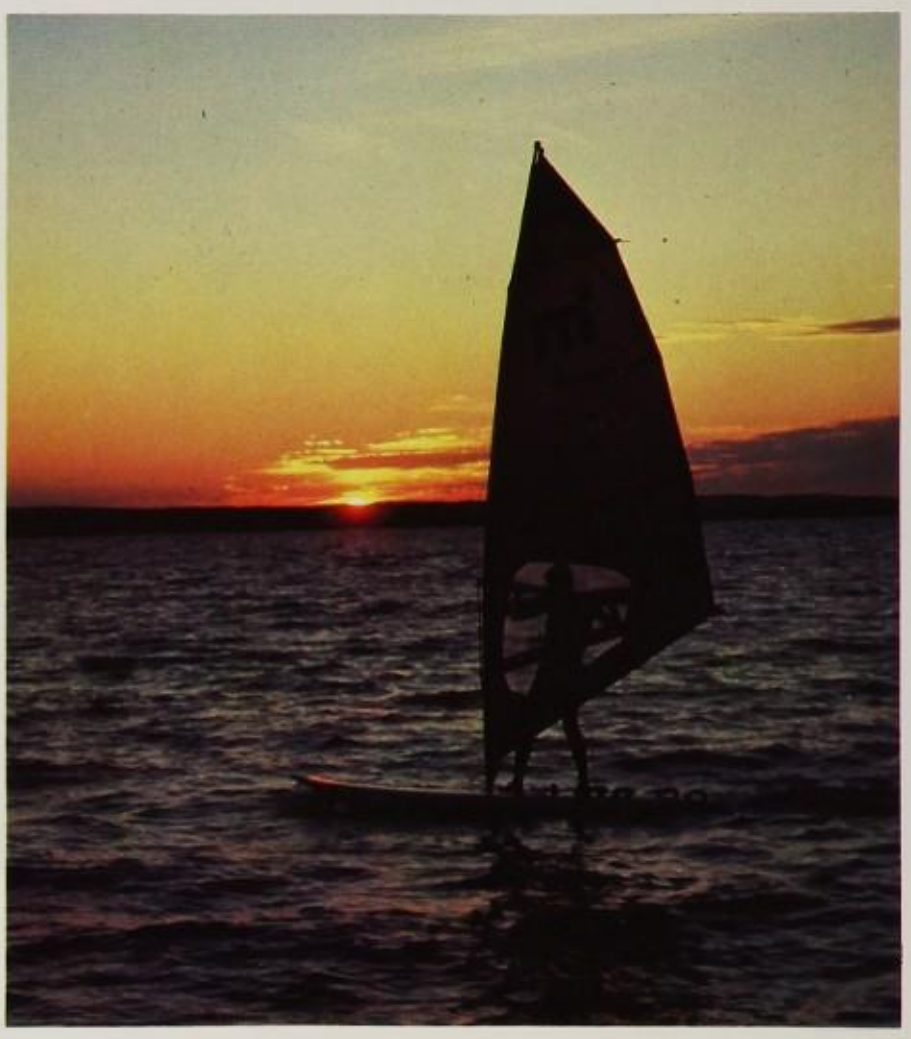
Juniors Chad Glock and Scott Grostefon shove their books into the trunk until the weekend's over.

FIRST CLASS

Senior Jim Burge was crowned the 1987 Powderpuff king and even got to keep his crown.

Joni Evans and Janet Bubb enjoy some chicken before the annual fireworks display.

"Amigo", the Pan Am Games mascot, embraces his friend, sophomore Cathy Snyder.



Senior Scott Hill spent most of his summer windsurfing, up at Burt Lake in northern Michigan.

Memories are made of this

Abbie Franke: I spent the summer in France. It gave me independence and prepared me for college.

Mr. Buzzard: I played and relaxed, and never thought of a chemistry student the whole time.

C.J. Gonzalez: I spent my summer hanging around Fort Wayne. I also swam a lot and played football.

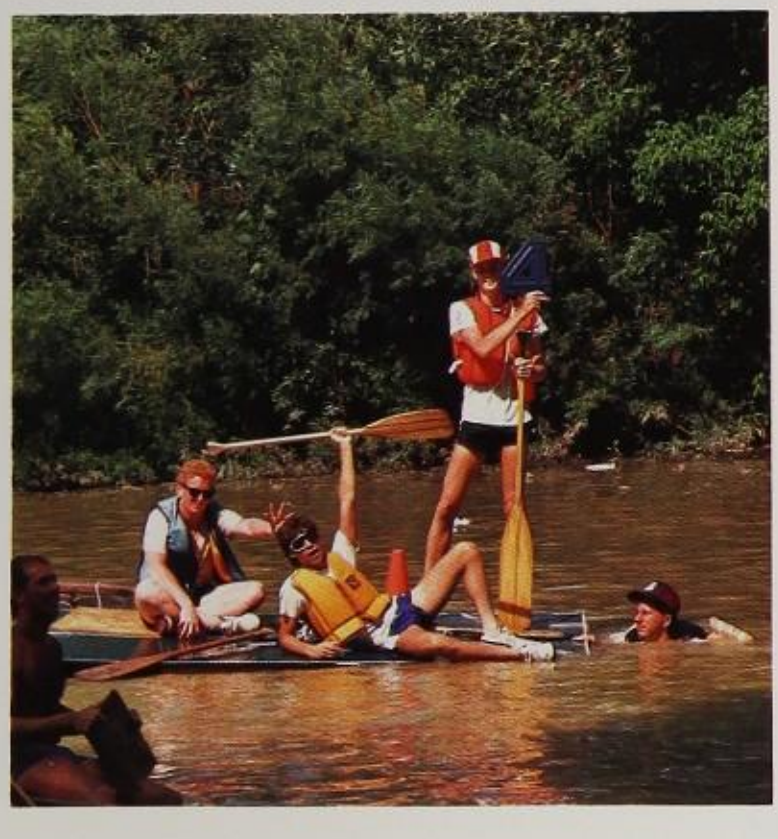
Stacy Swank, Staci Johnston, and Mike Miller ride along with Kevin Kratzman to get gas for his jeep.

Summer in Fort Wayne keeps teens busy

Summer tans, beaches, and late weeknights are missed but not forgotten

Summer is a time to throw away those school supplies, kick back and enjoy the freedom. Some students were off exploring the coast of Florida, or training in their favorite sport. Places like Putt-Putt golf, McDonalds, McMillan Park were THE spots to go. Freiman Square was a popular place for a while for Sunday night jams until it was moved due to an excessive number of rowdy people. The annual 3-Rivers Festival in July, had many events including the bed race, the raft race, and a street full of junk food vendors. Pokegan, on Lake James, attracted many looking for a good tan and a nice swim. When asked what she did over the summer, freshman Debbie Kiracofe replied, "I participated in summer gym in order to get ready for Cross Country and Gymnastics. When I wasn't training at school I usually just hung around with my friends, went to the pool, or watched TV." Senior Sara Shull boasted, "I sang in the 500 voice choir at the Pan Am Games and I worked my tail off at Hardee's."

So whether you're working, sunning, training or just goofing around that lazy summer only comes once a year.



Matt Bartholow, Peter Zinchenko, Mike Ketcham, and Jim Foraley paticipate in the 1987 WMEE Raft Race.

This freshmen couple has the dance floor to themselves as they finish out the evening on a serious note.

Judging from the look on freshman Hilary Tyler's face, she and her date are enjoying their first semi-formal dance.

Senior Sarah Randall and Brian Cook watch their friends "get down" to the lively music provided by Unique Lighting and Sound.

Accomplished dancer, senior Beth Vodde, struts her stuff to the amusement of her friends. Look out John Travolta!!

'88 Semi-formal ranked by many students as the best ever

Lively music and colorful decorations made lasting impressions on those who attended the 1988 Semi-formal dance.

Friday January 15, the day before the Semi-formal, found Snider students still rushing around. Last minute invitations and hurried visits to the florist over lunch were not uncommon. It was also hard for teachers to get their students to buckle down, but finally Saturday came and the fun really began. Guys you never suspected owned a suit appeared in their Sunday best and girls went all out with gowns closely resembling Prom apparel.

Most students' evenings started out with pictures. You know, camera-happy mom and her three rolls of film. Then dinner, where such places as Takaoka, The Summit Club, and Peaches were attended by a lot of Snider students. Says Christine Toledo, "Rick (Stacy) made reservations at Harlequins and we left early enough . . . we just couldn't find it. When we finally did, we weren't old enough to get in!" Finally, couples got to the dance and enjoyed lively, popular music by Unique Lighting and Sound. The cost was eight dollars per couple.

Decorations were provided by Armstrong Flowers, and Mr. Carl Anderson. Watters Studio took the pictures. Chairperson of the Semi-formal was Sarah Randall.

A good time was had by all

Mr. Anderson: "I was pleased with the number that attended and happy to see them have such a good time. I hope all are planning to go to the Prom."

Sarah Randall: "We spent a lot more time and money than in the past, but it definitely paid off in the end."

Kent Davies: "I had a great time, for my first. I even got to dance with more than one girl."

Comfort vs. Style

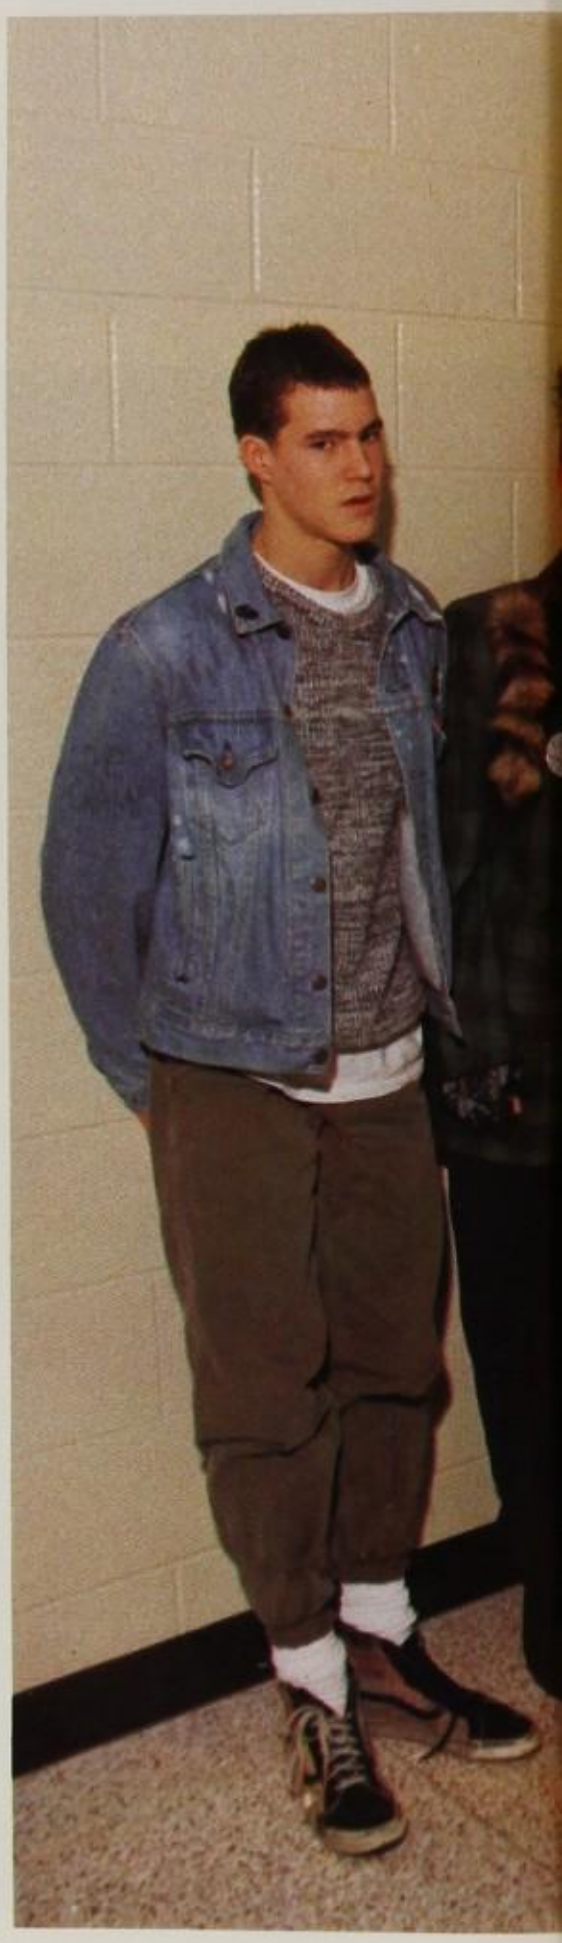
Kevin Kinnison: "I just dress for comfort, usually in a pair of jeans, a sweatshirt or t-shirt, and my letter jacket."

Sherri Stiles: "I enjoy fashion because it makes a statement about my self image. Working at Benetton helps out too!"

Brian Nycum: "I don't want to be in the crowd and follow the trends."

Senior Wendy VanOyen, a Limited clothing store employee, models the latest in fashion, the long cable knit sweater.

Logos and name brands were big in 1988 and probably always will be. Junior Sherri Stiles was caught up in this hot trend.

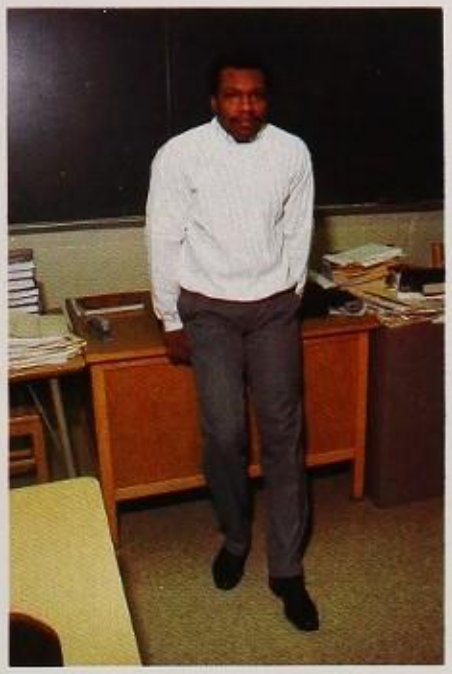


Frosted denim overalls were hot items this year as well as oversized "anything". Juniors Robin Mahoney, Kim Christman, and Julie Korte show their fashionable preferences.

Long, spiked hair and black clothing hit Snider students in a wave this year. These students display their own fashion creations-non-trendy.

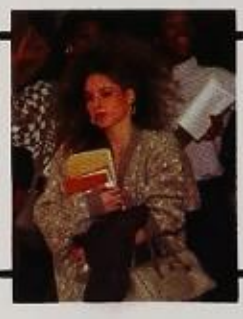
Jon Rian, Scott Kroger, and Ron Lahmeyer copy the Bon Jovi look.

Math teacher, Mr. Kevin Tubbs, proved that even teachers know a thing or two about the fashion crazes.



To be "in" or not to be "in"

Snider students "trash" the cloned look and dress for themselves.



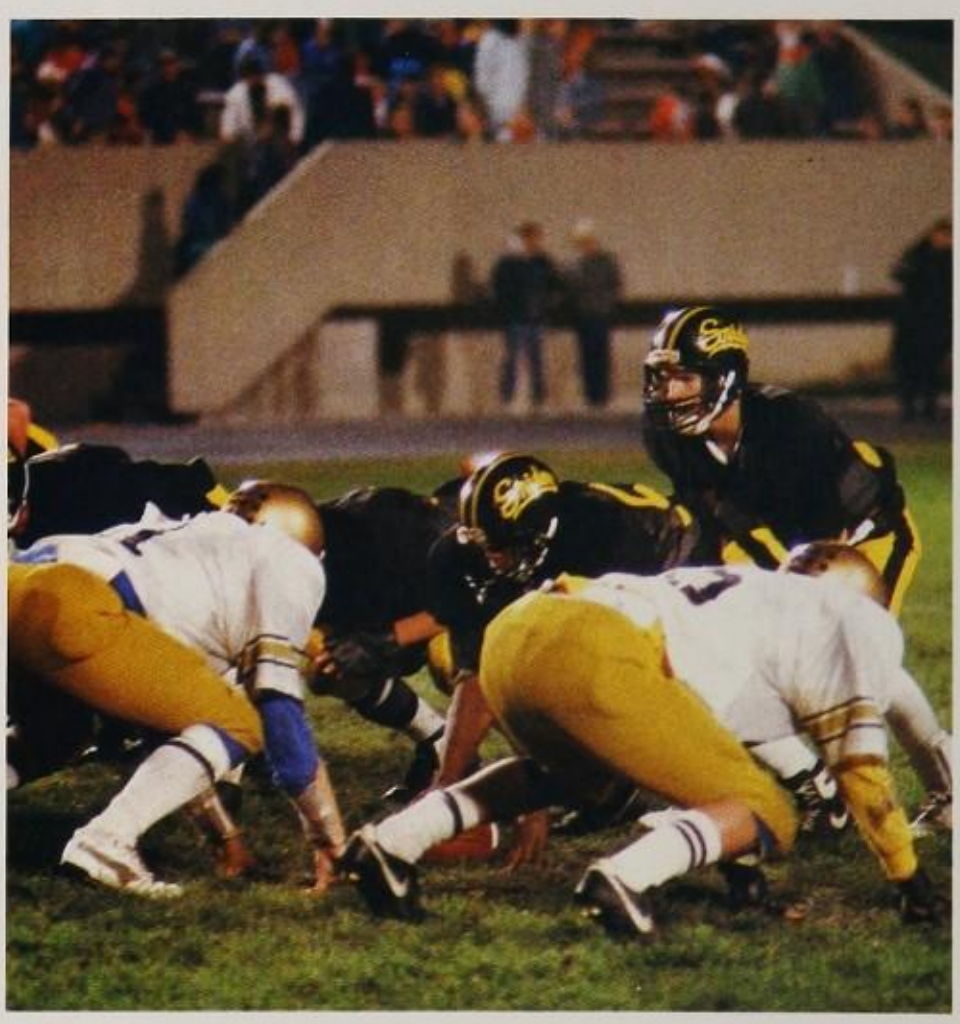
The bell bottom days are long gone and fashion has turned its unique eye to other styles. Instead of poodle skirts and bobby socks the '80's has micro-mini's and slouch socks. Fashion today has many facets.

People dress from avant garde to conservative, with some in between. In the winter one could see many people with Bomber jackets, distressed leather boots, oversized wool sweaters and bleached jeans. The summer offered such styles as biking shorts, rugby's and canvas gym shoes. Your faithful Bass or Eastland boat shoes were worn year round. Stores offer a huge array of clothing to express every person's individual style.

True, clothes don't make the person, however; the right combination can make a statement. To be in style takes a little common sense and a little creativity. Normally if you feel and look good in what you wear you're "in style."

The 1987 Homecoming Court is pictured during halftime ceremonies. Names are given on opposite page in the homecoming article.

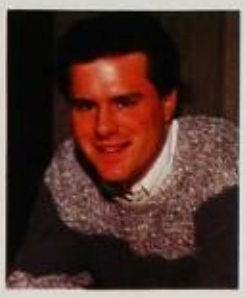
Taking time out from the homecoming game are: Jenny Herman, 1987 Homecoming queen and her escort, senior Clint Price.



The Mighty Panthers were led this year by quarterback, Kevin Kinnison who played last year in the State championship game.

Homecoming memories expressed

Ann Miernyk: "It was a homecoming we seniors could go out in style with. I had a great time at the dance and decorating."



Aaron Mauch: "I felt homecoming really brought out my true spirit. I hope I have as much fun next year when I'm a senior."

Steve Gillan: "I really enjoyed homecoming this year. It was better than last year including the great decorations."

Senior running back Solomon Emerson isn't just good, he's great! How many Dwenger Saints does it take to hold him down?

Fall Homecoming events draw crowds of spirited Panther fans

"Although the final score showed Snider lost the game, we were the true winners," stated senior Andrea Dean. The Panthers lost the game to Dwenger, but that didn't dim anyone's fun. Attendance at the dance was high. During the halftime Jennifer Herman was crowned by Kim Wightman last year's queen. The chairpersons for the event were Clint Price and Kristen Walsh. Festivities began with Spirit week. The students and faculty dressed up accordingly. We had Surf' em day, Box'em day, Hat Day, Rip'em day and Color Day. The halls were decorated with Fairy Tale themes. The seniors did The Wizard of Oz; juniors had Little Red Riding Hood; sophomores had Snow White, and freshmen had the Three Pigs. The seniors once again won the contest.

Junior Jill Rothenhofer represents her class in the court as the Snider Marching Band stands at attention in the background.

Homecoming '88

➡ Underclassmen wait for the DJ to play that special tune so they can dance.

⬆ A popular saying during spirit week appeared in the senior hall with OZ as its theme.

⬅ Of course, the seniors won the hall decorating contest again as their sign greeted onlookers.

Happily ever after

The cheerleaders give a new meaning to the word "perfection" as they attempt to make a pyramid.

Inger Rudolph collaborates with one of the coaches as Sara Pruden and Susie Korte look on.

The sophomore girls, participating in the tug-of-war, get riled up before competing against the freshman girls.

The look of strength is visible on the faces of these freshman girls as they complete their final round before becoming the "champs".

The class of '88 make their feelings known to the crowd by raising the hand and making the #1 sign after winning the game.

Seniors take Powder Puff

Powder Puff, which is one of the main attractions during Homecoming Week, has become a tradition here at Snider.

This year's Powder Puff was a little different. There were no practices allowed before the game except for one, which was organized by the Student Council. The junior and senior girls had all the coaches out on the field after school and were ready to begin a two-hour practice. These coaches taught the girls how to tackle, kick, block, or whatever was necessary for their strategy. During halftime, the freshmen and sophomore girls had their own battle. They went out on the field to fight their own tug-of-war. This proved to be a success for the freshmen girls who came out victorious.

Also during halftime, the court was introduced to the audience and this year's king, Jim Burge, was crowned.

The junior girls also displayed a great deal of talent but not quite enough to surpass the senior girls' experience and ability. The class of '88 came out triumphant with a score of 21-7. The senior girls' motto proved to be right on the nose "'88 DOMINATES."

Frosh, sophs battle at halftime

'88 Dominates

"Powderpuff gives girls and guys a chance to switch places. Girls put on jerseys to show their stuff, as the guys put on skirts to strut their stuff." Beth Safirstein

"The 'cheerleaders' showed great enthusiasm and school spirit, and they didn't have bad legs either!" Jennifer Sandman

"As a freshman, and it being my first homecoming, I was excited. Jenny Ehinger

Chincha Evans, Scott Rudolph, Stephanie Haught, and Dave Holland enjoy each other's company while relaxing from the dance.

All dressed up in top hat, tails and Reeboks was Rhett Kilmer as Lisa Fleck smiles her approval.

Mike McKinney and Trish Whaley make a perfect couple in their stylish formal attire.

Lori Stano and her date demonstrate the proper procedure for removing a garter.

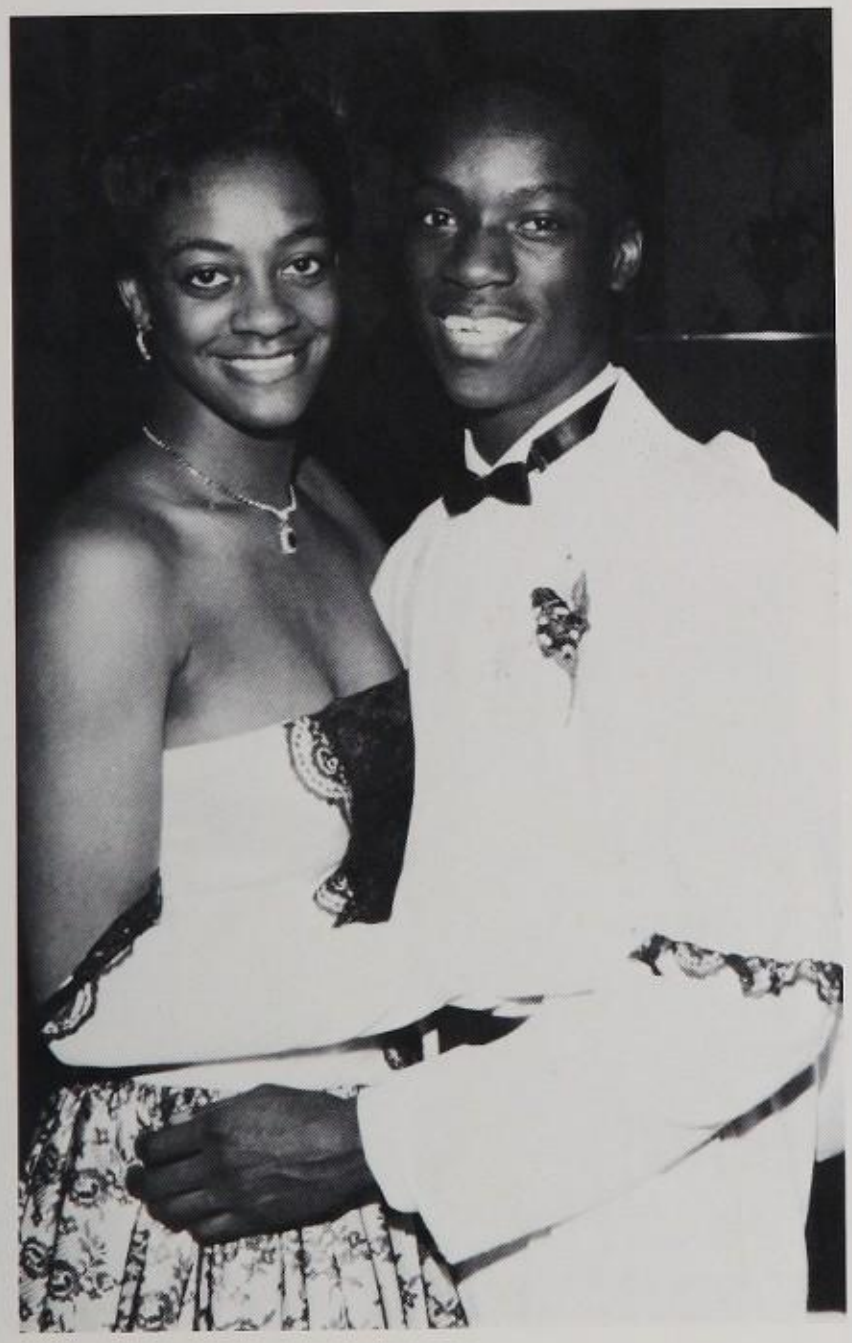
"I've had the time of my life"

Joni Evans - "Prom was a part of my Senior year that I'll never forget."

Matt Buchanan - "My date and I had a great time at Prom and at Kings Island the next day."

Mike McKinney - "Just being at the Prom with my date and all my friends really made it a lot of fun."



Prom 88 relaxes formal attire to include suits and party dresses

Brittney Tyler proved that you can still be prom queen even though you're escorted by Mr. Isaacs!

The theme for Prom '88 was "I've had the time of my life." Held at the Scottish Rite on Saturday evening May 14th, it was a night to remember. Class Officers Mike Anderson, Billy French, Jill Rothenhofer, and Tony Poignard, started work in May 1987 planning the event.

Their goal was to make it the best prom ever at Snider and to have as many as possible in attendance by relaxing the tuxedo and formal idea to include suits and party dresses. They also wanted to have music that the kids could really get into. So Unique Lighting and Sound provided the pop tunes that everyone likes.

The court was made up of four juniors and four seniors chosen by their classes respectively. The queen was chosen on prom night by those in attendance.

Special thanks to class sponsors Bev Weinraub and Carl Anderson and all the committee members who worked so hard to make the evening a special one for all.

Karen Moore and Owens Cole smile their best dressed smiles for this special evening.

Fall play delights audiences

"I'm pleased that we weren't forced to leave the building for a fire drill during the play, besides it was cold out." Jeff Bemiss

"The play was lots of fun, but the togetherness we all felt during the week was the strongest of all my four years. The cast parties were, well, even more fun." Mandi Georgi

"The funniest thing that happened during rehearsals was that we would make objects called "pooka sticks" in the shape of rabbits and try to slip people up on stage." Adam Bolander

Veta explains about Harvey and Elwood to Mrs. Chauvenet.

"That guy you were dancing with last night looked like a skitzo " advises Dr. Sanderson to Nurse Kelly.

Cast: Andy Faley, Julie Bemiss, Adam Reef, Krysten Cox, Amy Collingsworth, Greg MacDonald, Dana Stewart, Adam BolanderLori Ormiston, Mandy Georgi, Jeff Bemiss, Cynthia Dekay, Dan Fox.

Myrtle Mae Simmons is talking to William R. Chumley, M.D. about her uncle and mother and all the confusion about who is really crazy.

Elwood introduces Harvey to Mrs. Chauvenet as Veta and Myrtle Mae watch disgustedly.

Judge Gaffney explains to Mryle Mae about Elwood's disposition.

On Stage at Snider Harvey entertains with humor and laughter for all

Veteran director Terry Tucker put on another show to delight play audiences.

There are many things that make a play work: selection, cast, costumes, scenery, makeup, stage crew, lighting, special effects.

"Harvey" was a good production for a school play. It has just enough humor to delight both old and young audiences.

The stage crew was an important part of the production. These people must make sure that all props are out on stage when needed in a certain scene. It takes a lot of time and a good memory for this job. Changes must be made in a certain, short amount of time. Agility and a sharp mind are also important qualifications for a good stage crew member. The play went well and was enjoyable to watch both up front and behind the scenes "Harvey has shown to be the type of play that is praised for its work on and off stage. It's a crowd pleaser that is sure to "hop" its way into anyone's heart.

Assistant to the Principal Russ Isaacs performs his choir solo to the great amusement of the teachers and the Panther audience.

Sketchbook

Phyllis Blakeman - Veteran Director states: "I look for well-prepared people whose reward for participation is satisfaction."

Sketchbook, Snider's annual talent show, did an exceptional job in proving to everyone the immense amount of talent and creativity found at Snider.

Ms. Phyllis Blakeman, who has been in charge of some aspect of Sketchbook since 1969, states that she looks for well-prepared people.

Sketchbook gives students their time in the spotlight. Acts range from tap dancing to rock bands including solo performances and large groups such as the Pantherettes. At breaks between acts, the masters of ceremony entertained the audience with short skits.

A large number of groups auditioned for the show hoping to make the final cut. Several rock bands, and various other kinds of musicians such as a barbershop quartet and a pianist entered.

Sketchbook is not designed to be a competition between the participants to see who is the best or the funniest but a great two-hour show put on by some proud Panthers to showcase their first class talents.

A showcase of creative talents

Cynthia DeKay - "I thought that Sketchbook was very good this year. There was alot of variety and talent."

Rhett Kilmer - "Sketchbook 88 displayed the many talents of the student body and also great style."

Tony Luenberger - "This was the first year I've attended Sketchbook and I thought it was pretty good."

Lisa Fleck shows off her dancing ability in a fast-paced tap routine. Lisa has an outstanding academic record at Snider as well.

Among those performing was the band "Run Spot Run" with members Jeff Burdek, J.R. Dahman, Adam Reef, and Mark Whittaker.

Lisa Ormiston's voice is well known in Snider talent circles. She has been singing solos for school functions for many years.

Dolly Gallagher [Mandy Georgi] and Horace Vandergelder [Jeff Bemiss] are together at last at the end after many sour love affairs.

Dolly and Horace enjoy an elegant dinner at Harmonia Gardens while the waiter [Greg MacDonald] serves them eagerly.

Barnaby Tucker [Adam Reef], and Cornelius Hackl [Adam Bolander], stop when they see pretty Kim Johnson and Lori Ormiston.

Andy Faley and Hilary Taylor "put on their Sunday clothes" for a big dance number by the chorus.

"Dolly" delights audiences

"The cast came together as one and it turned out to be the best musical Snider has seen in a long time." Kristyn Cox

"During 8 weeks of practice, we go through many emotions,but when the curtain goes up it's a whole a new feeling." Andy Faley

"The musicals have been my release in school and gave me the opportunity to be on stage, and become close with my friends." Lori Ormiston

Award-winning "Hello Dolly" produces often hilarious fun

It was not quite perfect but pretty close to it!

Dolly projects her voice across the auditorium singing about how she can arrange people's lives.

Ermengarde [Kathy Haiflich] cries because her father won't let her see Ambrose Kemper [Phil Beineke].

Snider's 1988 spring musical was the award-winning production of Broadway's "Hello Dolly". Originally starring the blonde "bombshell," Carol Channing, our own blonde Mandy Georgi carried the role with distinction. Set in the turn of the century New York City, it tells the story of Dolly Levi, a socialite and "marriage broker."Her attempts to marry Horace Vandergelder, a well known half millionaire, and find partners for his two naive assistants, produces often hilarious but always musical results.

The cast worked for eight long weeks and pulled the show together for two packed performances .

Morp King Dan Fox and his date Jamie Renbarger pose for the crowd as they have just been introduced as royalty

Without a care in the world, Adam Dulik and his Morp date make the perfect couple as they groove to the music

Do these people look like they're having fun ? Well, they aren't smiling out of boredom! Morp couples danced to the melodies of Unique Lighting And Sound.

Tina Johnson, Dorrell Johnson, Camella Wright, and date take a break from dancing by lounging on the steps.

Morp couples let their feet move to the beat as they enjoy one of the best Morps at Snider ever. Morp spells "prom" backwards and means the kids can dress "down" instead of "up" for the occasion.

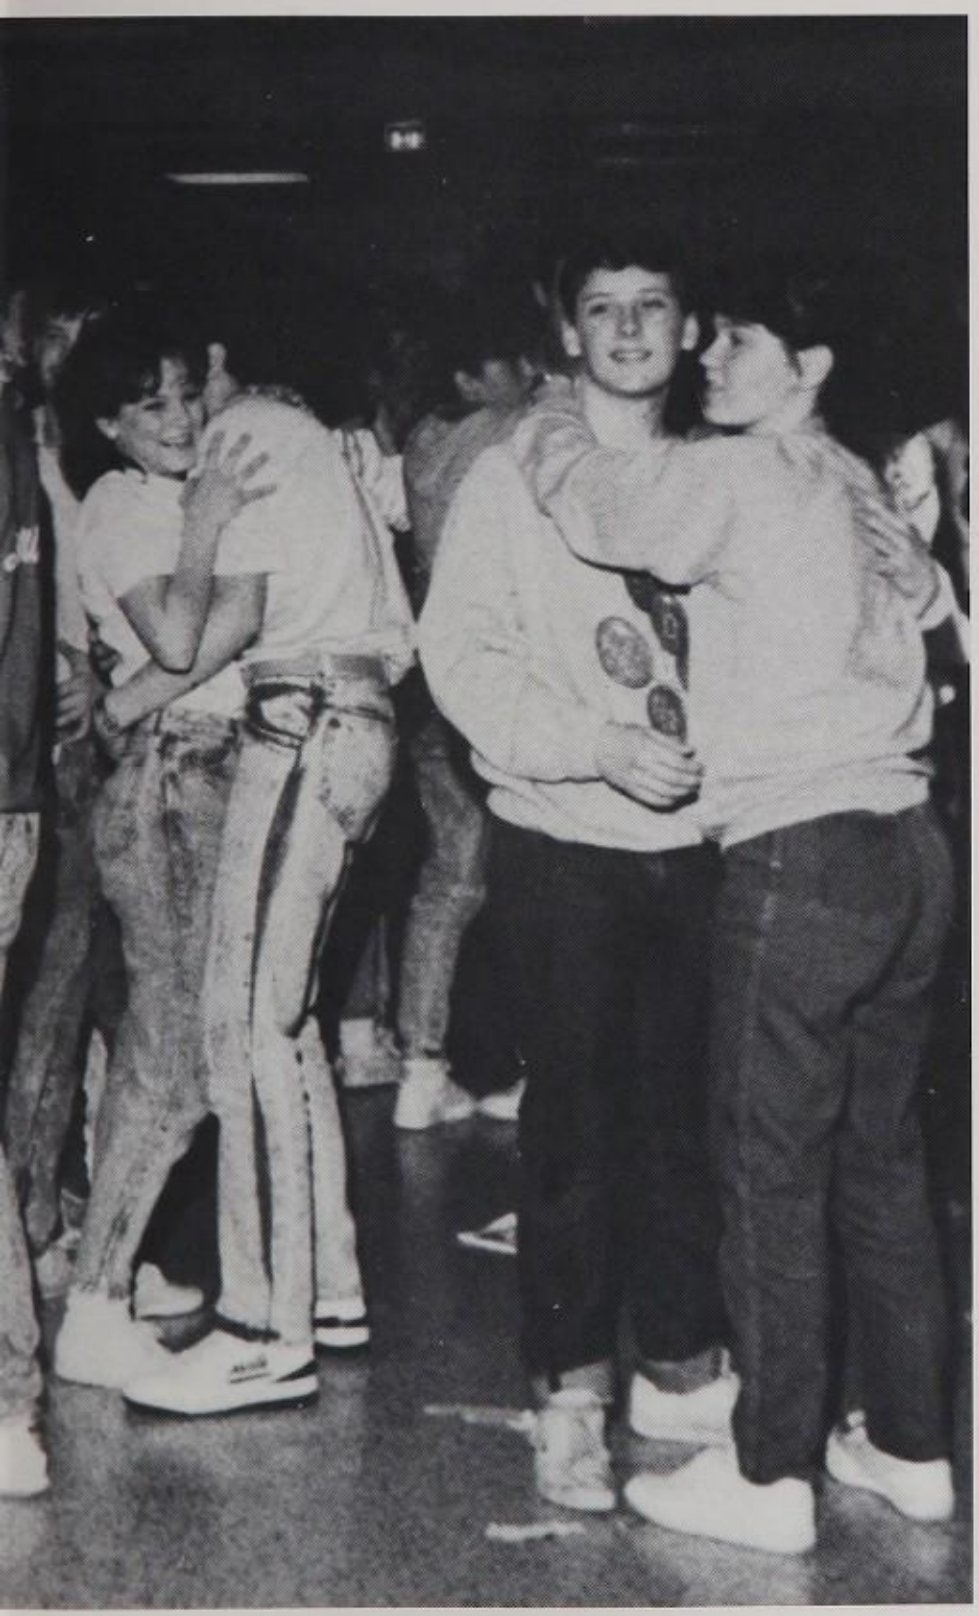
1988 Morp "Go Hawaiian" With Class

Flower leis given to everyone at the door boosts Hawaiian theme for a unigue evening of "backwards" fun and frolic

"I've gone to the Morp all four years and I think this one was the best so far," said co-chairman Mike Miller. This year's Morp had one of the biggest turnouts that Snider has ever had.

The Morp, the opposite of the prom, has become a tradition here at Snider. The girl asks the guy out and they usually go to dinner at the cheapest place around. Some favorite dinner places are K-Mart's cafeteria, McDonald's or maybe even a truck stop. The couples wear matching outfits, usually a t-shirt or a sweatsuit outfit. This year's decorations brought out the theme "Go Hawaiian". Palm trees were positioned on either side of the band "Unique Lighting and Sound". Matted grass, bamboo poles, fish nets and surf boards were just a few of the island adornments that were used. Co-chairman Clint Price also took care of making sure that the background for the pictures looked as real as a Hawaiian beach.

The dance is held every year in the Commons. Another special touch was the leis that were given to each person at the entrance. A new tradition that will be added is the sale of individual tickets.



Morp tradition offers variety of fun

Fred Ibarra: "The decorations were better than in previous years. I also liked the way the band played all types of music. It ended my senior year on a great note!"

Irence Vlaskamp: "I thought it was really fun. Maybe it should have been a little later in the year so that more people could have worn shorts."

John Drummer: "I enjoyed the Morp a lot this year. I had a great time, especially when my date took me to K-Mart for dinner!"

Jennifer Eikenberry and Kristyn Cox lounged around the beaches at Ft. Myers, Florida trying to get a good tan to show off back home.

Monica Chhabra, Mike Kruse, Allison Beaty, Bobbie Simpson, Mike Gerve, Amy Rising, David Dunderman, and Brian Lieb are in Paris!

This spectacular scene in Florida was a dream fulfilled for some lucky panthers who were fortunate enough to escape winter's blast.

What a way to forget school!

Laura Miller-"The Bahamas was a dream come true. Tropical climate, and crystal blue water made you want to stay forever."

Amy Rising-"France was great! I'm really glad I went, a great experience. When we landed I was on the verge of tears."

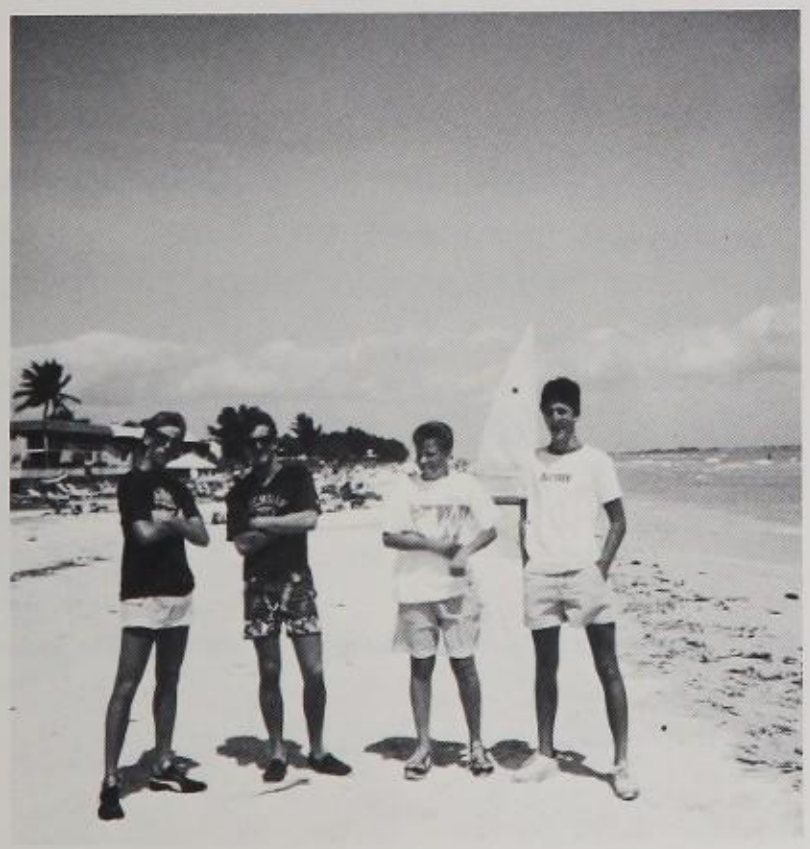
Michelle Guthrie-"Had a great time, relaxing and enjoying the Caribbean and the weather in Cancun was the best part. Went windsurfing and sailing and also saw a lot of Spanish culture."

Juniors Greg Brubaker, Steve Pratt, John Levy, Charlie Ruble, and Mike Ross, went skiing in Colorado. Some suntan, guys! Nice try.

A fun filled adventure of fun in the sun and travel to foreign shores.

White sandy beaches, cool blue oceans dotted with surf boards, a dream come true for many Snider students.

Picture this: High rise condos facing miles of white sandy beaches. Guys with dark tans and girls in skimpy bikinis. Blue oceans dotted with surfboards. This is a scene that many Snider students saw during Spring Break. Senior Melissa Rinehart who went to Marco Island, described her vacation as "very relaxing." Florida wasn't the only vacation spot that was visited this spring. Some students visited places such as, New York, Nashville, and Chicago. A group of French students saw the sights of Paris. They got to taste French cuisine, and see such monuments as the Eiffel Tower and the Louvre. As for the people who spent their vacation in Ft. Wayne, the hours were spent working, going to the mall, or just trying to catch the few hours of sun each day that shone across the midwest. Senior Michelle Jensen one of these fortunate people, said she " ... watched TV, and listened to the Jim Reed show on the radio ... " Whether their vacation was spent lying on a beach towel or on a couch, in Hawaii or Ohio, students enjoyed getting away from classes. Needless to say, it was hard for everyone to come back.



"Who are these cool dudes trying to impress," asks Tom Parnin while getting ready to start toward the clear blue water.

Sports

Boys track is a large program at Snider. Here jumping at the gun with Indianapolis North Central is Willie Odom.

Tennis facilities attract large crowds in nice weather. Here senior Fred Jentgen shows his excellent form at a match.

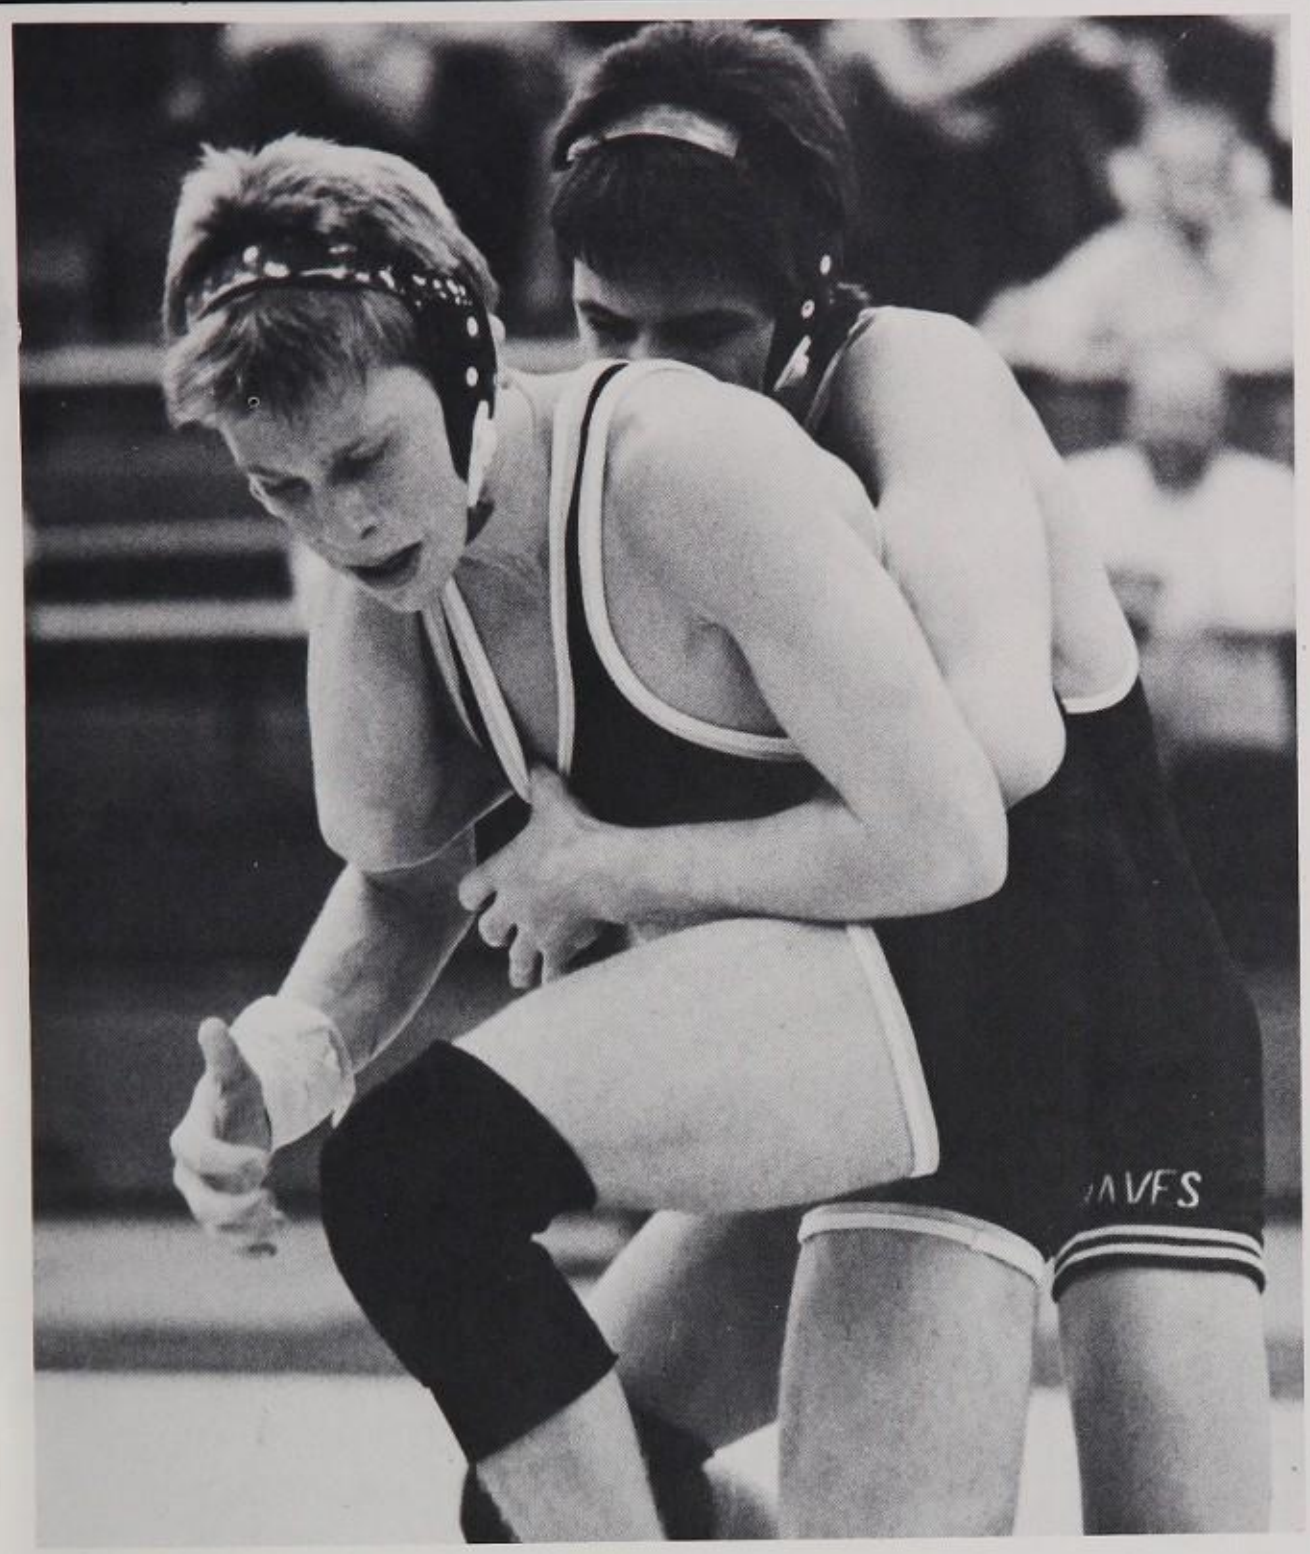
Soaring high through the air above all his opponents, senior Bobby Nichols scores another two points for the home team.

The Snider Athletic program is a first class operation all the way. Veteran director, Bob Armstrong, has the experience to put it all together for the Panthers to see that the players and coaches have the best of what they need.

Snider has had a large share of successes over the years and this year was the year of the female champions. With volleyball teams and basketball teams like this year, it will be a tough act to follow.

A new team was added to the growing list of Panther competitors with the swimmers and divers making a splash for the first time since the late sixties when Snider had the likes of Olympic gold winner, Sharon Wichman, wearing the colors.

Sports requires much time, energy and dedication but as all athletes will agree, the sweat and tears eventually pay off with a good season and great memories of a job well done.



The mighty Snider wrestling team had many winners including this junior Phil Miguel.

Girls playing soccer may seem like a new invention but Mindy Phillips had the power to lead her team to many victories.

Bobby Zimmerman concentrates on passing the puck to a teammate who can score a goal in the fast-paced game of hockey.

A young gymnast finishes her floor routine with all the grace and style of a professional. Most gymnasts start out young to train.

Emerson

Panthers finish with 7-4 season

Emerson and Jacobs excel

When the 1987 Snider football team ended its season at Penn High School, losing 7-17 to the undefeated Kingsmen, the Panthers showed in one game the way their entire season went. Throughout the game and season Snider showed brief spurts of promise they threatened to upset Penn. But, in the end Snider just couldn't put it all together and fell short of their goals in this game and their entire season.The Panthers finished the season with a 7-4 record and a 4-2 mark in the SAC, for third place. Along the way Snider had many highlights, such as starting the season as the number one rated team in the state, setting a school record by blasting Elmhurst 70-0,and beating Elkhart Central to make it into the Sectional final. Senior running back Solomon Emerson was named to the all-state team, Greg Jacobs and Tony Bragg were honorable mention. Jacobs was also an academic all-stater along with Mike Niccum, Emerson, Jacobs, Bragg, and Witmer were placed on the all-SAC team.

Reserves go 5-2

Freshmen end season with a 7-1 record.

The Reserve and Freshmen football teams finished successful seasons in their development of the mighty varsity team.

The ninth - twelfth graders accomplished a 5-2 record for the reserve team. The team was sparked at the end of the season by defeating North Side who, until their match with Snider, was undefeated.

The Freshmen team boasted a 7-1 record with their only loss coming from Northrup. Injuries plagued the Reserved team. Two of the key players, Adam Buchanan and Mark Taylor, missed the season due to a hand and knee injury. The Reserve team is coached by Mr. Fast and Mr. Arnold and the Freshmen team is under the coaching of Mr. Bush and Mr. Schaeffer.

Basketball 7-13

The boys' varsity basketball team compiled an overall record of 7 wins and 13 losses in Jim Rousseau's first season as the head coach. The Panthers finished 2-7 in the SAC which tied for eighth place. Despite their poor win-loss record, the Panthers battled hard all season, losing seven games by seven points or less with all of these tough losses coming at the hands of conference opponents.

Tony Gooden was the team's leading scorer and rebounder and was named to the All-SAC squad. Tony averaged 18 points and 9 rebounds per contest. Rhett Kilmer led the team in assists, and Mark McGraw was the leader in the free throw percentage. The highlight of the season was the Panthers' victory over highly-ranked Harding in the sectional. Gooden and Kilmer combined for 42 of Snider's 63 points in the upset win.

The Panthers ended sectional play with their loss to the Dwenger Saints. Dwenger went on not only to capture its first sectional championship but the regional as well.

Reserves Gain Experience

The Boys Reserve Basketball team ended the season with a record of 6 wins and 13 losses. During the season 19 players saw action at the reserve level. There were four juniors, twelve sophomores, and three freshman who contributed to the reserve team this year at one time or another. The Reserve team suffered many injuries, but showed constant improvement particularly towards the end of the season.

The season started with the Reserves at a 2-2 clip, but after the 10th game the record had slipped to 3-7. Following this mark the team responded rather well, winning the next three out of four games against S.A.C. competitors Bishop Luers, Harding, and Northrop. The victory against Northrop was a highlight to a season filled with many ups and downs.

Led by Coach Keith Edwards the freshman team had a season of 4 wins and 6 losses with their wins coming from teams such as Elmhurst and rival Northrop. The team's highlight was their fifth place finish in the Wayne Invitational Tournament.

A lot of valuable experience was earned by the two groups of young men who will contribute greatly to the success of Panther Basketball in the future.

Gills and Kumfer Key Players

"We're from Snider, couldn't be prouder . . . " Snider students chanted from the corner of the Ben Davis High School gymnasium in Indianapolis. It was a moment full of pride, for the volleyball team as well as the fans. When the Spikers defeated the Mishawaika Cavewomen for the State Championship. 15-6, 15-13.

The fall issue of Coaches Convention read, "Fort Wayne Snider is making its first major bid for the Indiana title with 6-0 twins Bonnie and Donna Gill plus Kim Kumfer. The Gill girls are among the greatest athletes in the Midwest." The Spikers regular season record was 24-1, with their only loss coming from a tough bout with Muncie-Burris, 11-15, 15-4, 9-15. Besides the state game against McCutchen, this was the only three game march Snider played. Fans flocked to each volleyball match to watch Snider's outstanding volleyball team, which consisted of 5 seniors, 6 juniors, and one sophomore. Five of the Spikers were selected to the SAC All-Conference team: Jennifer Herman, Leslie Johnson, Kim Kumfer, Bonnie Gill, and Donna Gill. The Gill twins were also voted All-State. State was their goal and every day the team saw it, worked for it, and what they achieved was something far better than any of their dreams.

Freshman learn through hard work

The freshman volleyball team had a tough season but through their continual hard work, they developed a spirit of team work, and a greater knowledge of the game.

Juli Fast, Becky Koehl, and Jody Patire were the setters. Middle hitters Jenny Kaluza and Kari Clauss were another major strength of the young team. Janine Lothamer and Jenny Ehinger were strong outside hitters. Laura Welch was a key on defense and when serving. She also earned the "Most Improved Player Award" for the freshman team. The team finished play with a record of six wins — eight losses.

The team was able to succeed as a high -spirited team showing improvement with each game.

STATE CHAMPIONS!!!!!!!

The varsity girls basketball team finished the year with a record of 27-1. The Panthers lost their first game of the season but with the next game they began their neverending winning streak. The team was regular season S.A.C Champions with a 9-0 record, S.A.C. Holiday Tourney Champions, Laporte Tourney Champions, Sectional Champions, Regional Champions, Semi-State Champions, and State Champions. Seniors Donna Gill, Bonnie Gill, and Jenny Herman were first team All S.A.C. selections, Lori Stinson, Snider's all-time leader in assists, was a second team selection and Kelli Allison received honorable mention. Kelli Allison was also selected to the academic All-State team. Donna Gill, with a career scoring record of 1147 points, became one of only a very few basketball players (male or female) to be selected to play in the annual Indiana-Kentucky All Star Game. Nine of the top ten highest field goal percentages were made by either Jenny Herman, Bonnie Gill, or Donna Gill. Lori Stinson blew out the most recent single assists record with a 192 and the highest career assists record having the high 360. Kelli Allison was a second in career assists with 227. Donna Gill and Jenny Herman took first and second place in the top ten of the highest single season rebounds. Donna rebounding 338 times, and Jenny 236. The Panthers brought Snider numerous school records as well as a State Championship.

Cross Country Wins Again

Hoevel Breaks Record Douglas All SAC

"There is no easy way out." That inspirational motto of Lady Panthers Cross Country proved to push the team to another winning year with their record being 15-4. Senior Jacque Hoevel and junior Sally Jinks represented Snider in the Hokoum-Karem and placed fifth. During the season Jacque Hoevel broke a school record by running a 4K in 15:07 minutes.

The Boy's cross country team posted a fine season, finishing with a 13-5 record and runner-up in the SAC meet. The team was lead by conference champion Brandt Douglas, who emerged early in the season as a strong fast runner. Joining Brandt as an all-SAC selection was sophomore Jason Davis. The goldrush finished the season strong by qualifying for the semi-state meet. They fell short of making it to the state meet; but turned in a good performance at semi-state, placing higher than conference champion Northrop.

Seniors lead Pucksters

The Snider Hockey Club ended their season, with a total record of 17 wins and 6 losses. They finished second in the Hockey Association and sixth in the State Tournament. Coach Robbie Irons was pleased, considering he had to play five games without leading scorer Doug Smith and seven games without co-captain Wade Stuckey, due to football and baseball conflicts.

Leading the Panthers in scoring was Doug Smith, with 40 goals and 27 assists; Wade Stuckey (17 goals, 37 assists), Rick Benson (11 goals, 41 assists), Steve Lewis (21 goals, 27 assists), and Freshman Brian Knipscheer (17 goals, 23 assists). Goaltender, Tom Pecoraro played strong in all games.

Wade Stuckey was named to the All-State 2nd team on defense, and Doug Smith was named to the 4th team as center.

The graduating Seniors have proven to be the best class of players ever at Snider, combining for a regular season record of 55 wins, 12 losses, and 6 ties the seniors have made their mark. They have also contributed to 2 State Championships

Hey is new coach

This was the year of change for the Snider Panther varsity baseball team. The team completed the regular season with a 17-11 record. The new program presented to the panthers by rookie coach Dave Hey worked through even the most trying of times. Through hard work and determination the panthers had another victorious year. Seniors Darren Vogt, Freddy Knipscher, and Jeff Dysert lead the team through the season.

Finishing their season with a 11-2 record, the reserve baseball team looked especially good for the varsity team to come.The Panthers ended their SAC competition 7-1 and 4-1 in out of conference play.

Pitchers Jason Woolard, and Todd Gibson finished the season with a combined record of 10 wins and 0 losses. Leading hitters were Mike Keesler at .433 and Tony Light at .423.

Panthers cop SAC, Sectionals and Regionals and qualify seven for State

The girls again had a very successful season. The Varsity was rated 3rd or 4th in the State polls all year and won 2 major championships going into the State Meet. They finished the triangular season undefeated 11-0. The reserve also finished undefeated 11-0.

The first major test of the year came at the Northrop Invitational. Snider placed 2nd behind #1 rated Gary West Side 79-84. Kristy Mansell was injured at the start of the meet or the victory would have been with Snider. First place finishers were: Jacque Hoevel, Donna Gill and Nicole Irby. The SAC meet results saw Snider the #1 team in Ft. Wayne with five conference champions. By the end of the Regional four new records had been set by Kristy Mansell, Jacque Hoevel, Jane Deike, and Nicole Irby.

The theme for the boys' team this year was "1988 Year of the Panther"and the team improved in many areas in depth. The coaching staff was extremely pleased with the excellent leadership from the seniors. Ron Humphrey received much acclaim for his running ability. The team captured not only the SAC but also the Sectionals and Regionals with ease. Seven fine athletes qualified for the State Meet.

Keeping her first place lead, senior Kristy Mansell outstrides the rest of the hurdlers with ease to set records for the Panthers.

Cheerleaders support teams with spirit and zest

The life of a cheerleader is not all glamour and shine. They are the ones behind the spirit which supports the athletic teams at Snider High School. The girls' job is not an easy one for most students do not really appreciate all that they have to do. Many early morning sessions are needed to plan what the group is going to do for the pep sessions and special games.

It takes a lot of energy and good mental attitude to be a cheerleader and take not only the glory but also the groans that go with the performance.

Being a representative of your school both at home and away in different communities puts a lot of pressure on the cheerleaders to be the best they can be at all times.

But the girls accept this challenge in good faith and humor for they are aware of the responsibilities that go along with being in front of the crowd. It may seem like an easy thing to get out there and jump around and yell but one doesn't always feel like being cheerful. Everybody's expecting you to do your best and so that's what you have to do. Nowadays with women's lib and all it may seem old-fashioned for the girls to cheer on the boys but some basic things in life don't change very easily, and where would we all be without someone to cheer us on to success!

Wrestling

The Snider Wrestling team entered the 1987-1988 Season looking to win back the SAC and Sectional titles that were lost in the previous season. The Panthers won the SAC Tournament title by fifteen points over rival Northrop. Winning titles for the Panthers were Rob Jackson, and Jamaul Jackson. This victory guaranteed the Panthers a SAC co-championship with Northrop. Snide entered the finals with a slight 10 point lead over New Haven. When the finals were over the Panthers had regained the Sectional title, having gone 9 for 9 in individual championship matches. Other highlights of the season included Jeff Watson winning the Regional title in the heavyweight division as well as qualifying for the State Tournament, and was named the team MVP. Al Page set a school record for takedowns, scoring 75, and received the mental attitude award. Kurt Tippmann received the John Osborne award, given to an outstanding, non-varsity, underclassman.

In a tight spot for the moment, Junior Phil Miguel prepares himself for his next move.

Gymnastics

Young team has bright future

The young gymnastics team finished third in the SAC with a record of 5-2. Although this team of six freshmen, two sophomores and two juniors was plagued with injuries they did quite well with an overall record of 8-3. Freshman Karma Bradley had an outstanding year in the all around and had the highest season score with an 8.9 on a bar routine. Another freshman Janine Lothamer also had a great year in the all around. She placed 5th in the SAC championship meet and just missed advancing to Regionals with her vault that scored the team's highest season score, 9-0. With the young age of the team the next years will show the improvement of strength and agility.

Patterson signs on Fast-pitch team improves

The Snider girls' softball team opened its second season for the program with a new coach on board, Mr. Dennis Patterson, a veteran history teacher at Snider.

Coaching girls was a new experience and the team finished the season with a 5-15 record. It was a season marked by a great improvement and progress for the young team with six of the losses being by two runs or less.

A reserve team was added this year and their participation will greatly help the growth of the softball program at Snider in the future.

The team may not be the caliber of the ole Ft. Wayne Daisies but a beginning on a long-standing favorite tradition has been started at Snider High School .

Coach Dennis Patterson questions the umpire's call on a bunt.

Making a last minute attempt to slide, junior Cindy Bice is tagged out at home.

Girls, soccer nabs runner-up spot in city championship; boys have winning season

Teams' growth soars

Playing at the Flames' facility in New Haven, the Snider girl's indoor soccer club accomplished a winning season. The team was young, consisting of 14 underclassmen and only 8 upperclassmen. They had a difficult time getting started but by the end of the season the team felt as if they were working together.

Finishing the season with 5 wins and 3 losses and a tie, the girls captured a runner up spot in the city championships.

Once again the Snider boys soccer club proved to be a soccer power in the city. Having an overall record of 7-3-2 the panthers relied on team work and the coaching of Greg Roberts to continue their winning tradition. The Panthers were proud of placing three members on to the all-city squad: Aaron Foltz, Matt Bartholow, and Tim Witmer. Along with Andrew Faley who received all-city honorable mention.

First Year for Swim and Dive Team

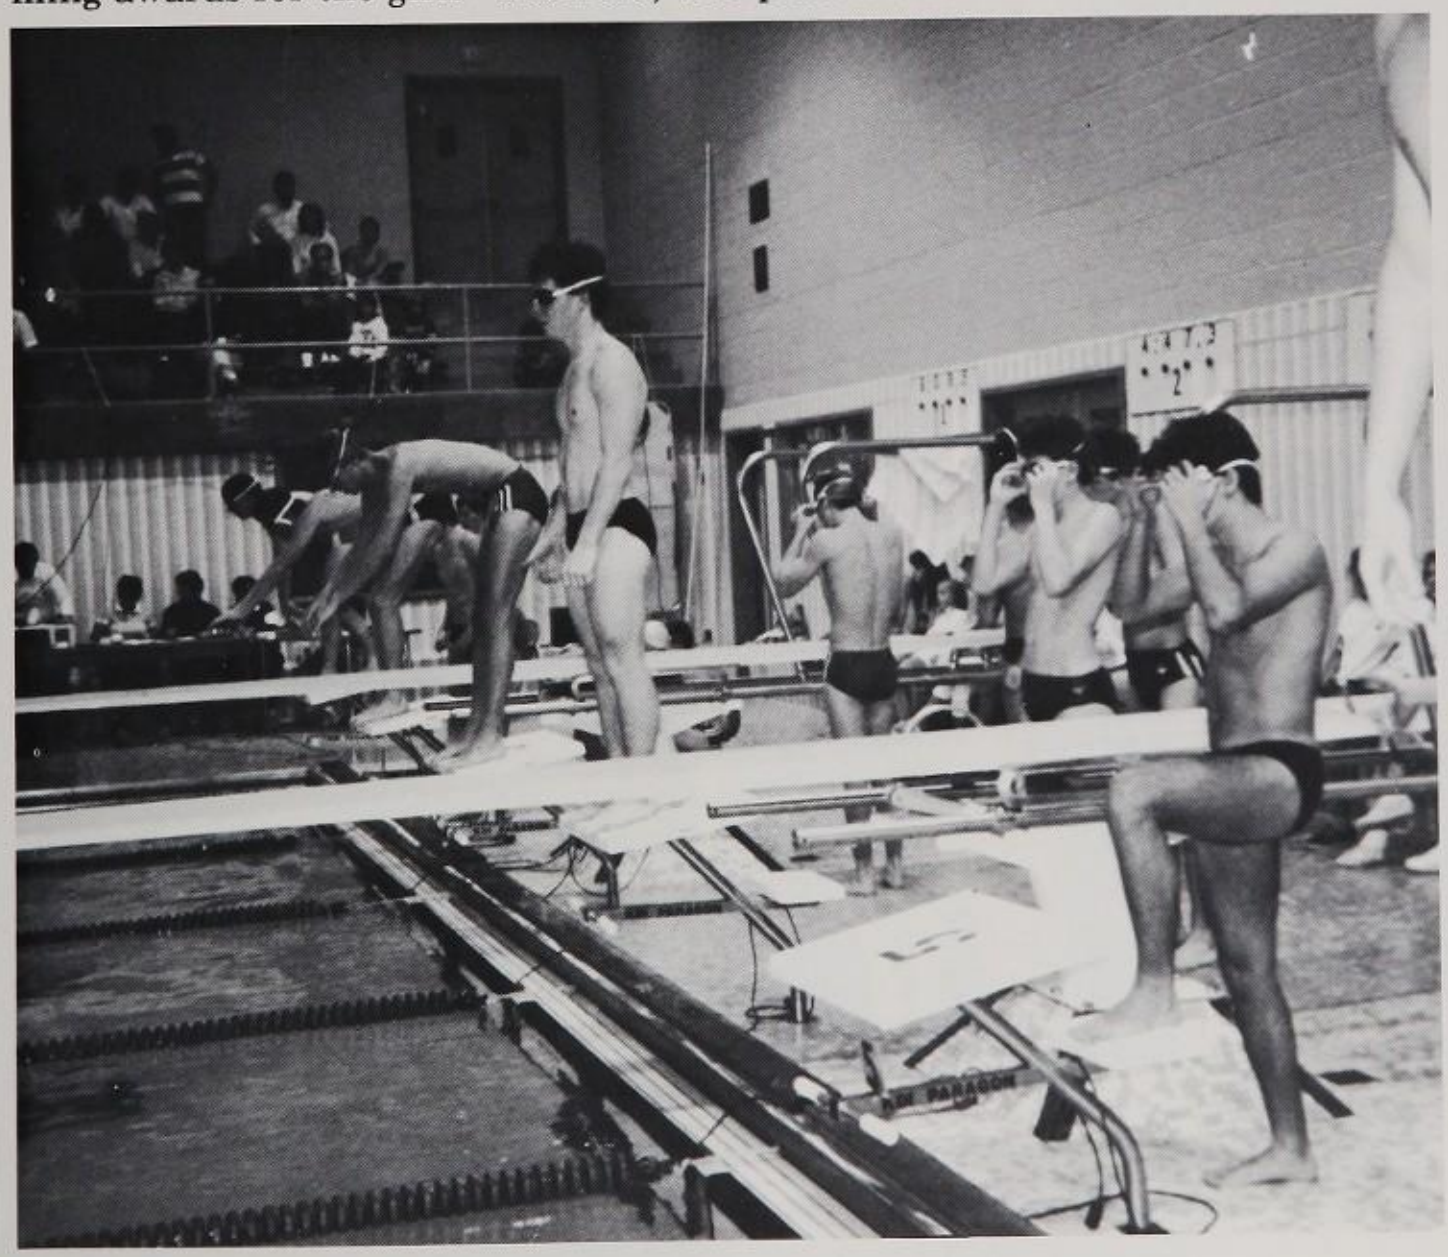
Bower Qualifies for State

The Swim and Dive team got off to a very good start for its first year. The girls only competed in Sectionals and took fifth place out of fifteen teams. The boys team defeated Bellmont and lost two close meets to Norwell. They placed fourth at sectionals out of sixteen teams.

The high point swimming awards for the girls went to sophomore Heidy Elyea and for the boys it was given to Tim Bower.

The Mental Attitude awards were received by senior Amy Rising and senior Greg Jacobs.

Outstanding performance by individuals for the 1987-1988 season were sophomore diver Ann Larmore, who placed 5th at sectionals, freshman Jason Beer, who placed 3rd in the 500 free style and 5th in the 200 IM at sectionals, sophomore Tim Bower who qualified for the State Swim Meet and placed first at sectionals in the 200 free and 500 free and senior Mark Steinberg who placed third in the 100 breaststroke at sectionals.



Steve Braun readies himself for his swim in the Marion Relays.

Mr. Seth Congdon presents senior Donna Gill with an award recognizing her tremendous athletic abilities.

Amy Spisak is all smiles as she is called up to receive her certificate for participating as a Snider cheerleader.

Mr. Armstrong presents senior Jason Bryant with the coveted blanket award. Jason was one of nine people to receive this award.

This year's blanket award winners: Lori Stinson, Ronald Humphrey, Jackie Hoevel, Jenny Herman, Donna Gill, Bonnie Gill, Solomon Emerson, Jason Bryant, and Kelli Allison.

Many athletes receive awards

Matt Buchanan-"It was good to be with all the senior athletes and to be associated with such a strong class."

Jodi Brubaker-"It was fun to see the accomplishments. It was neat that there were so many blanket winners."

Rhett Kilmer-"It's hard to believe that I've been associated with some of the best athletes in Snider history."

Athletic program expands from seven to sixteen sports; involves over 300

Since 1964, Robert Armstrong has been the Athletic Director at Snider except for a brief stint as Mayor.

When Snider Athletics began in 1964, there was no gym, no track, and football practice was held at Lakeside Junior High School. Since that time the record speaks for itself. Statistics tell part of the story of Snider Athletics. From 1966 to the present time, Snider teams have won the following; 45 Sectional Championships, 19 Regionals, 5 Semi-states, and 3 State Championships. We have been fortunate enough to have eleven athletes win state championships and awards. In the future other sports will be added to provide for the needs of more young men and women. Success is usually equated with winning. At Snider we believe that our athletic program is successful because of the athletes and coaches who compromise it and the parents and students who back it.

Senior Lori Stinson accepts her blanket award from Athletic Director Mr. Bob Armstrong.

Academics

Brett Hamm enlists Ms. Dierstein's help in determining the best picture.

Junior Grace Guo checks her homework with Mr. Schuckel to make sure her information will be correct for the test.

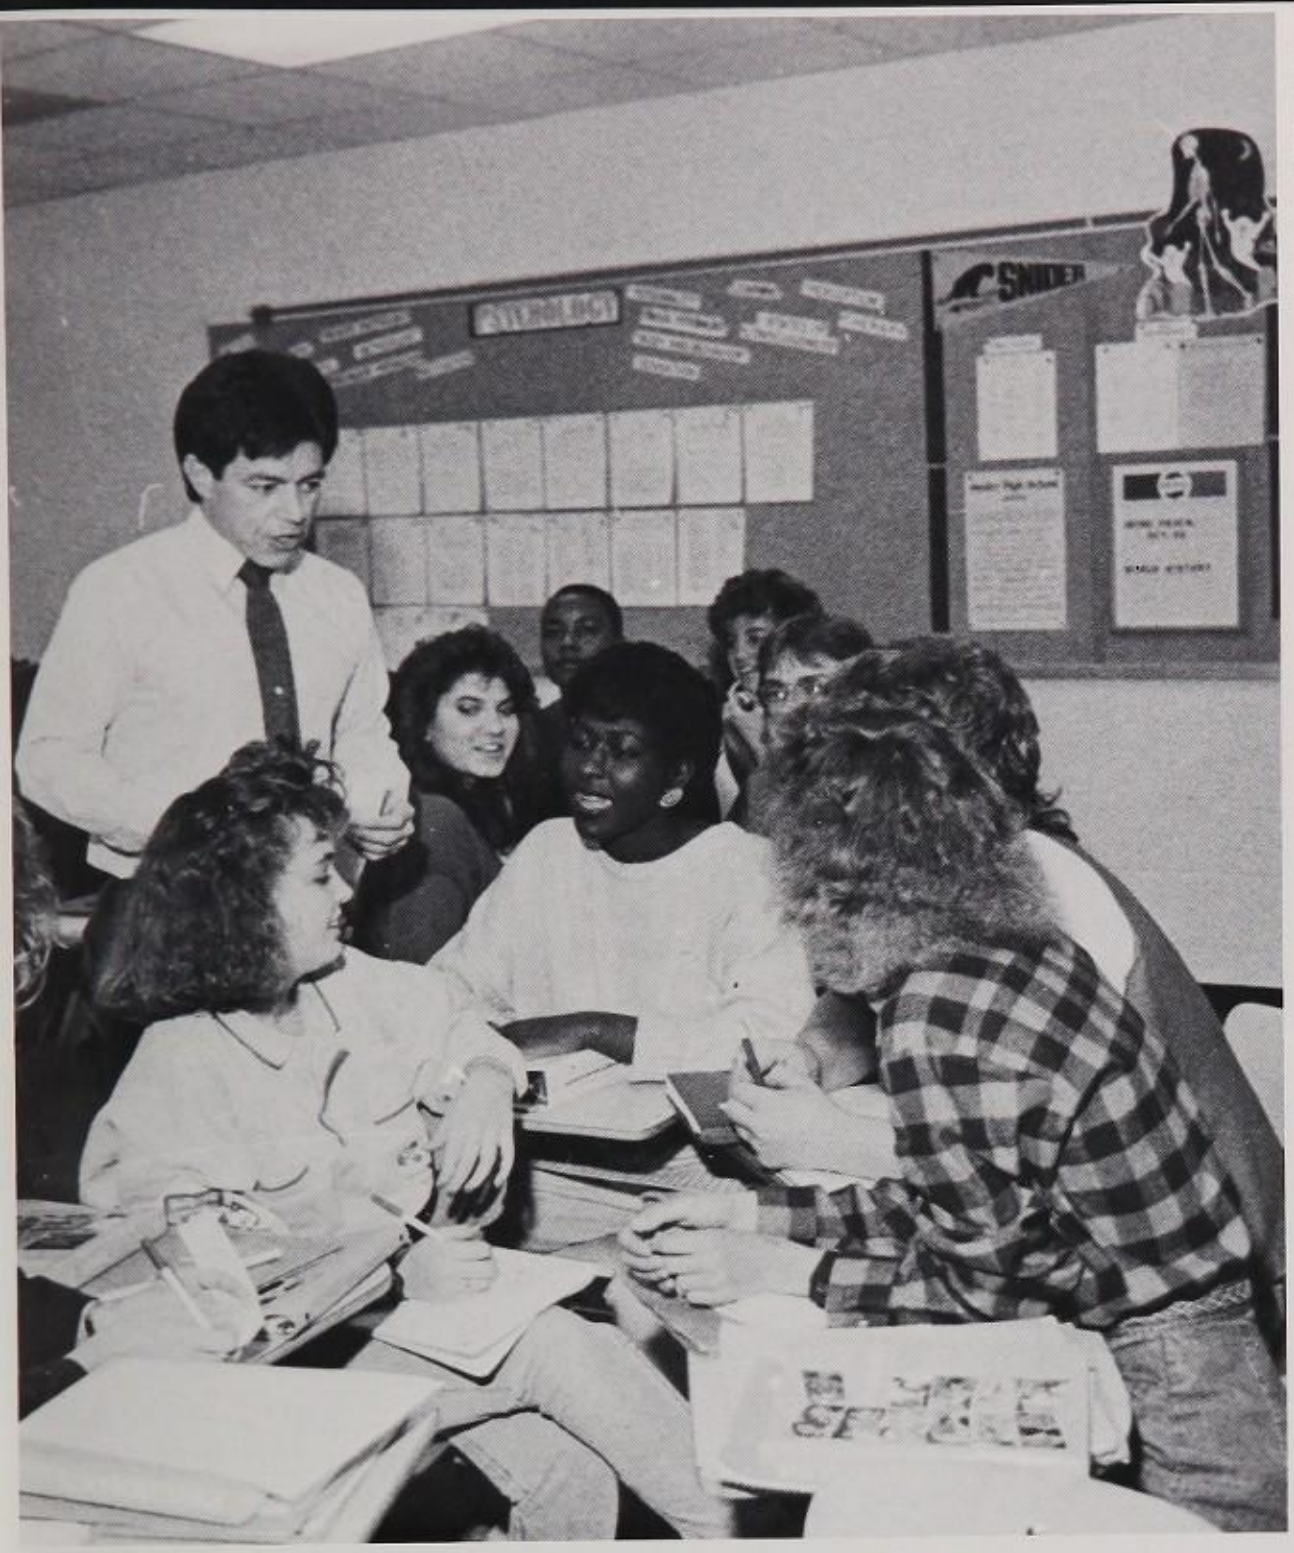
Snider High School has always excelled in the area of academics. Students win awards and recognition in nearly every area of the curriculum available to them. From science to marketing, from secretarial to higher mathematics, it is easy to find students who are tops in their field of study.

Much dedication and time is given by those people who desire that extra measure of perfection in their work. If it's in creating newspaper pages, or planning a mock wedding, the effort pays off in self esteem and the rewards of contribution to others in the process.

Today's modern high school has so much to offer on every level of ability, one would almost have to work at NOT achieving something. Teachers and staff are so willing to give of their time and expertise that most students can easily find a place to fit in their talents and interests.

Never a day goes by at Snider that some announcement is not made to recognize students who have won an award or contest. The office display wall is full of certificates and presentations that Snider has gained through the years. It's no wonder that many families seek to move in the neighborhood specifically for their kids to go to Snider High School.

We build winners not only in sports but in academics as well.



Group discussions are of utmost importance in Mr. McMillan's psychology class.

Mr. Rian explains to his Industrial Arts class the theory behind the making of a project.

Mrs. Bakle slowly walks around her class explaining to her students what Lord Byron meant in "Ode on a Grecian Urn."

Madame Weinraub shares a joke with her first year French students who also learn something of the culture of France.

Senior English teacher and speech team coach, Thom Pabst, surveys the collection of periodicals in the resource room of the Media Center, a busy area for teachers.

Randall Rusk, veteran English teacher also offers a class in career planning. Here he assists one of his students in his poster-filled classroom.

The theatrical side of Mr. Jim Clauser takes over as he gives us one of his most exuberant expressions while grading papers.

Cuban native, Senor Cesar de La Guardia, offers to help Cindy Ketchem with her Spanish assignment. Fluent Spanish can often be heard as teachers are conversing in the hall.

Communication Time

Students learn to express themselves.

As quoted by Laurel Binyan, "A man's language is an unerring index of his nature." In simpler terms, "A person's intelligence is shown through the way they speak." Snider English faculty taught each and every student how to express themselves correctly and thoroughly.

From Freshman to Seniors each student was assigned an English teacher. In each class, students learned grammar, literature, and how to give speeches correctly. Juniors were taught test taking skills that would be helpful in taking the P.S.A.T. College bound Seniors wrote research papers and took the S.A.T.

One Senior said, "What's most important to me is the writing skills. I'll take that with me to college and use it often in my future."

Often, students had one teacher the first semester and switched to a new teacher the following semester. Many students found this confusing. One student said, "I've learned more this year than I ever have. But, I think we should stick to one teacher the whole year."

Mara Davis: "What's most important to me is the writing skills, I'll take that with me to college and use it often in my future."

Foreign language and English students get the best from new materials.

Foreign Language

French, Spanish, Latin andGerman can all be used whether doing bilingual work, or just vacationing.

The foreign language department is headed by Mrs. Packer and a staff of experienced instructors. The students involved in these classes are exposed to geography, history, and food of the country they are studying.

Most of the projects this year are teacher oriented. The foreign language teachers are up-dating inventory of all of the supplementary instructional materials. Structuring the presentation of supplementary cultural materials in the Spanish and French Classes where there are multiple teachers, is also being done.

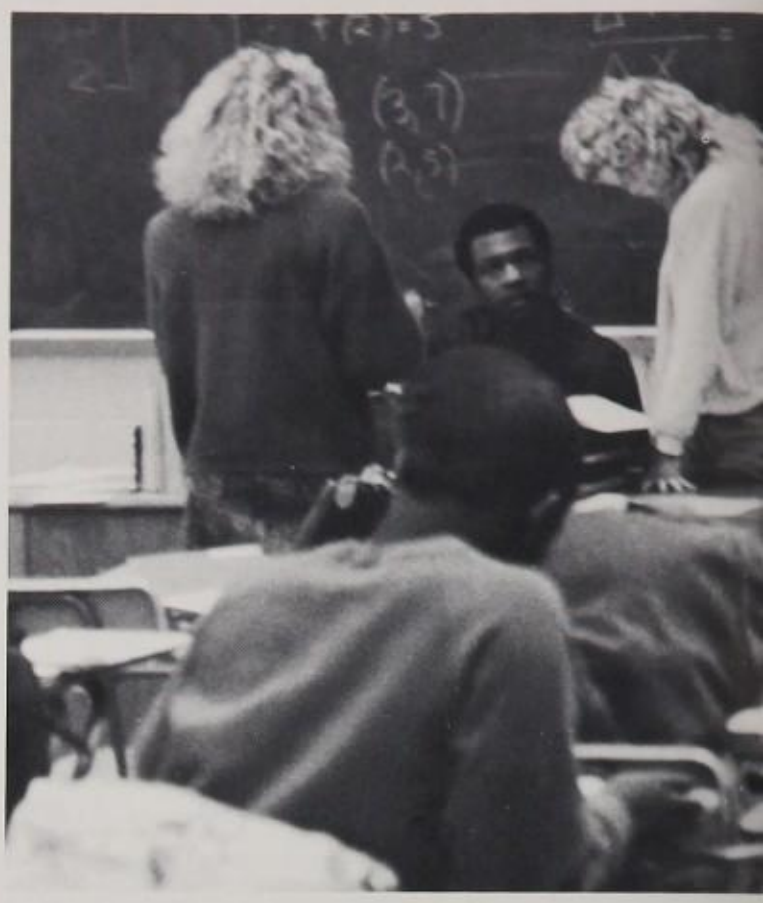
Foreign Language classes focus on oral proficiency.

The modern Foreign language classes are focusing attention on oral proficiency, and all of the teachers are working with a new state-wide proficiency guide.

These events not only provide learning, but also enjoyment for the students.

Junior Jason Saavedra looks shocked after Mrs. Bakle tells her class all that is required to get an "A" for the semester.

Students gather around Mr. Tubbs to get some help with their Algebra hoping to understand the graphing routine once and for all before the big test tomorrow.



Veteran Mathematics department chairman Carl Scholz notes: "Our subject differs from others in that a pupil's success in subsequent courses is dependent on their retaining the basic skills of arithmetic and algebra. This process continues as long as he/she attempts to learn math, consequently we strive for their mastery of the subject content."

Accuracy and patience required to master math and science

Snider's science students continued to excel in the 1987-88 school year, winning both trips to the International Science Fair after participating in the Fort Wayne Science Fair. Three students placed in the top ten of the Northeastern Indiana American Chemical Society Test.

Mathematics students excelled in the American High School Math. Examination and qualified for the AIME. They were: Phil Beineke, Bob Kelsey, Darren Pierre, Eliza Fulton and Kim Guo.

Mrs. Lois Arp returned from her maternity leave and Jill Petrie, her sub, left for Australia on a scholarship to the land down under.

Jenny Yoder and Mr. Dean Fast share a joke together after math class during which he lectured about thousands of theorems.

"What's so funny Mr. Buzzard?" It must have been that one of his chem stars didn't answer with an appropriate response.

Kelli Allison stays after school to get help on her math homework from Mr. Lamar Kilmer, also coach of the girls state championship basketball team!

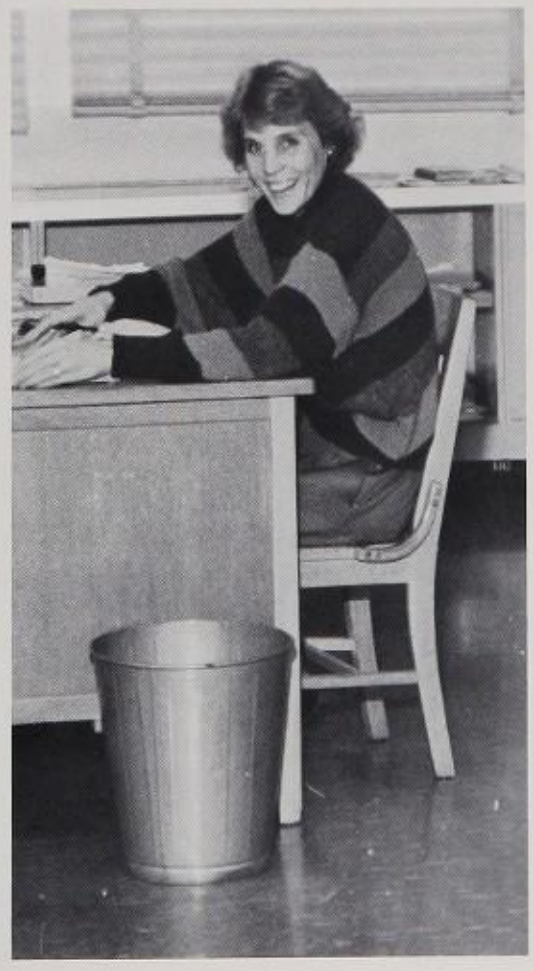
Mr. Pat Blose explains to a student that if too many chemicals are mixed together there could be one major problem.

A Class Act

Experiments lead to discovery

A wide variety of different level classes at Snider have resulted in the largest enrollment of science students ever. The long-awaited arrival of new textbooks this year also gave rise to new opportunities to explore new challenges. Changes in the department also included Mrs. Amy Fisher's return from her maternity leave replacing a series of substitutes who went to bat for her in her absence.

Mr. Gene Buzzard is Snider's veteran science department chairman.



Returning this year after her maternity leave, Mrs. Lois Arp flashes her winning smile after a great basketball championship year.

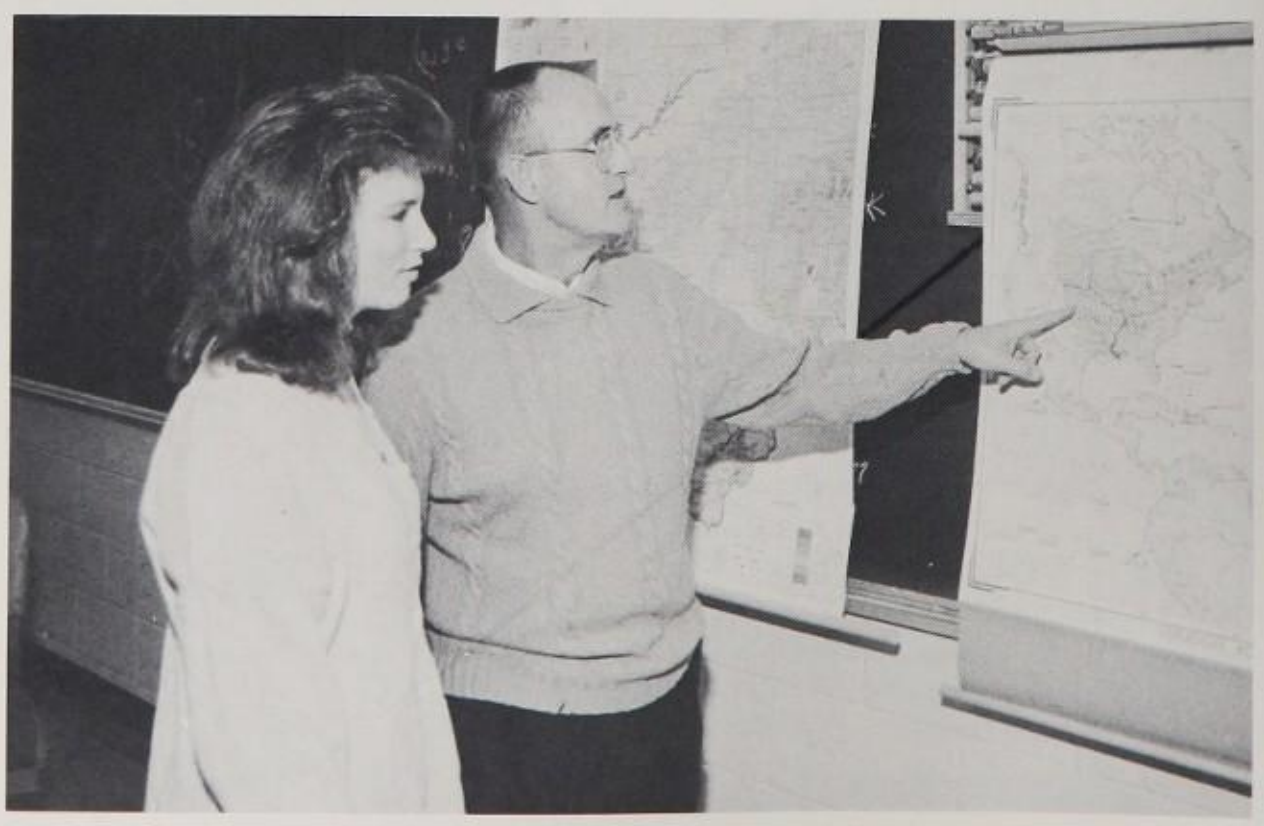
History still requires study

Dr. Werling shares his gradebook with his students to prove just how those zeroes can add up when homework is not turned in or tests are not made up on time.

There's no way to get around it - history IS now!

The study of the past continues to be a part of the present at Snider. The history department offers a wide variety of classes from World History and Good vs. Evil to Psychology and Anthropology. This year, Economics joined Government as a required course for seniors. Now maybe we can learn that money doesn't grow on trees.

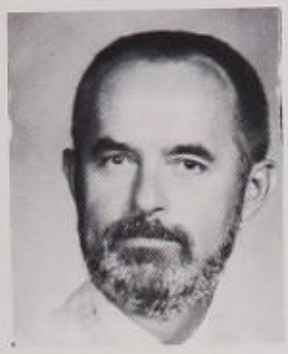
Government and Economics teacher, Bob Weaver spends some extra time in the workroom on the computer available there for his use.



Veteran U.S. History teacher Tom Schuckel is retiring from Snider this year after a long career of helping students learn and understand more about their country.

Mrs. Johnson helps Tammy Sampson with her problem on a computer.

Typing teacher Mrs. Ricketts, has been seen around the halls of Snider for many years, always with a smile on her face too!



"All of us are different and yet we are all the same. I have been able to explain something that I've enjoyed and was paid to do it — a wonderful job! I have memorable moments from each of my 22 years at Snider."

Business classes use the hands-on-approach

For the majority of business students, Snider had more than plenty to offer. A new course was added. "Improving Personal Potential" was designed for students to leard about communication skills, setting goals, time management, and note taking. Keyboarding, which was open to all grades, had students working on microcomputers one semester, while the other semester was spent on electronic typewriters. Junior Alaine Reppert said, "I really enjoy working with the computers. But when it comes to changing to the typewriter, I'm not so sure about that, I may like it, but I really like the computers." Marketing education was offered to Juniors and Seniors. Juniors learned about Job Interview, Advertisement, Economics, and all other aspects of the retailing world.

Senior students applied what they learned the previous year, and held jobs at area businesses. Senior, Karen Kupla said, "Currently I'm working at American Eagle. I think that through Marketing Education I've learned to set higher goals for myself."

The classes were a lot of hard work and took plenty of effort but in the end the classes would benefit them professionally and personally.

Steve McCombs works diligently taking the message from his dictaphone and transferring it to his typewriter.

Trying to finish up her business assignment, this senior girl comes in during study hall.

Juniors Shawn Speaker and Joe Parra cut out things about themselves for a collage.

Senior Nikki Hohman works patiently on her silk screening project.She won an award this year for her artwork.

Senior Kristin Spranger does the finishing touches on her silk screening work.- This project involves the advanced art classes.

"I took this picture in a now leveled barn near Riverbend Golf Course. It was a Gold Key - Blue Ribbon finalist and a nominee for the Kodak Medallion of Excellence and one of the five best in northeastern Indiana. This type of mood picture, is what I enjoy most in—the more creative freedom, the better."

Mark Walters - "I'm happy to have had two pictures in the Scholastic Art Show and it was even more thrilling to have one go to national competition in New York City."

Art-Photography classes grow in popularity

"A picture is worth a thousand words," which is evident upon entering the doors of Snider High School. One could see the brilliant work of our art students. Here at Snider we have very talented and creative minds.

The Art department and Photography department went hand-in-hand. Learning to express ones' self came out in all different shapes and sizes. Junior Dave Hendrickson said, "Developing pictures is really exciting. What's surprising is projects that you don't think will work out end up being an A+ grade."

Year long courses returned to the Art curriculum last year such as, silk-screen painting, silver jewelry, and the study of Architecture. This was done to broaden the creative experiences of the students. These classes taught students all about the different areas in art. The 88-89 school year will be even better because Art History and a 4th Semester of Photography will be added to the many classes already offered.

Learning can be fun

Kids learn valuable skills

A common nightmare the "other" Home Ec. student had . . . bzz!! A person, upon hearing an oven buzzer peers anxiously inside. What they find is, Aagh! The chocolate cupcakes now resemble black pieces of coal.

People who enrolled in Home Ec. learned very useful skills that would prepare them for the future. Such skills were sewing, decorating, child care, and budgeting.

Yes, even girls are allowed in drafting classes and by the looks of it are successful, too!

Mr. Rian is a familiar face to the young men in the woodworking classes. He has been teaching here many years.

Computer drafting new and improved

Let's face it, this is the age of technology. There are computers that are used for many things. They range all the way from grocery stores to the library. Now, computers have even touched the halls of Sni-high. Yes, computers are now involved with Industrial Arts classes. This course was available to juniors or seniors who had at least two semesters of Mechanical Drafting. The name, "Computer Aided Drafting." In the class, students learned how to draft and design with the help of a computer. Mr. Ron Short said, "It will prepare students to operate the systems and understand the application of computer graphics to industry standards."

Students could also take General shop, woods, metals, or work with electricity. Junior Jeff Walker said, "I really enjoy working with my hands. Someday I hope to pursue a career in the area."

When one thought of Shop classes, plant stands or magazine racks popped into their minds. But, as far as Snider was concerned, racks and stands were left behind in the dust. Saw dust, that is.

This freshman gym class gets warmed up for a fun-filled day of badminton. Look at that excellent push-up form!

Contrary to popular belief, students "kinda like" gym class. Said one sophomore, "I hardly have any time to stay fit. Actually I kinda like gym class."

Gym classes cause moans and applause

Do any of these advertisements sound familiar? "Get into shape! Special offer: 2 people for the price of 1, and hey, you'll save money!" Maybe you have heard one like this, "You worry about your health and we'll worry about everything else!"

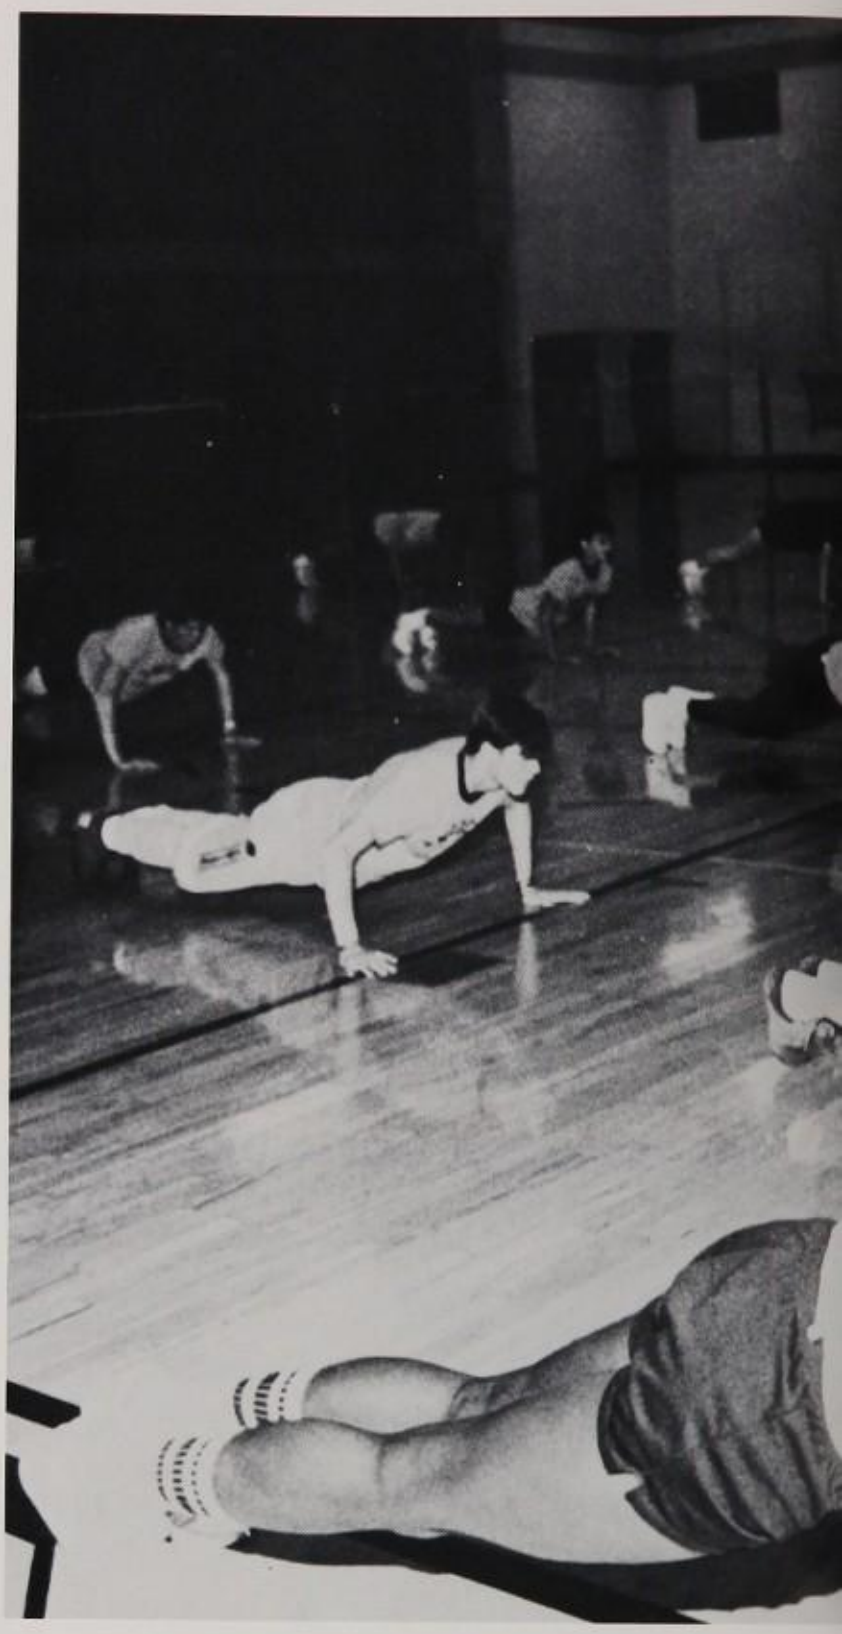
Many students have heard these or similar slogans on the radio, TV, or through newspapers. Some students begin to think, "How can I get into fit condition with out spending lots of money?"

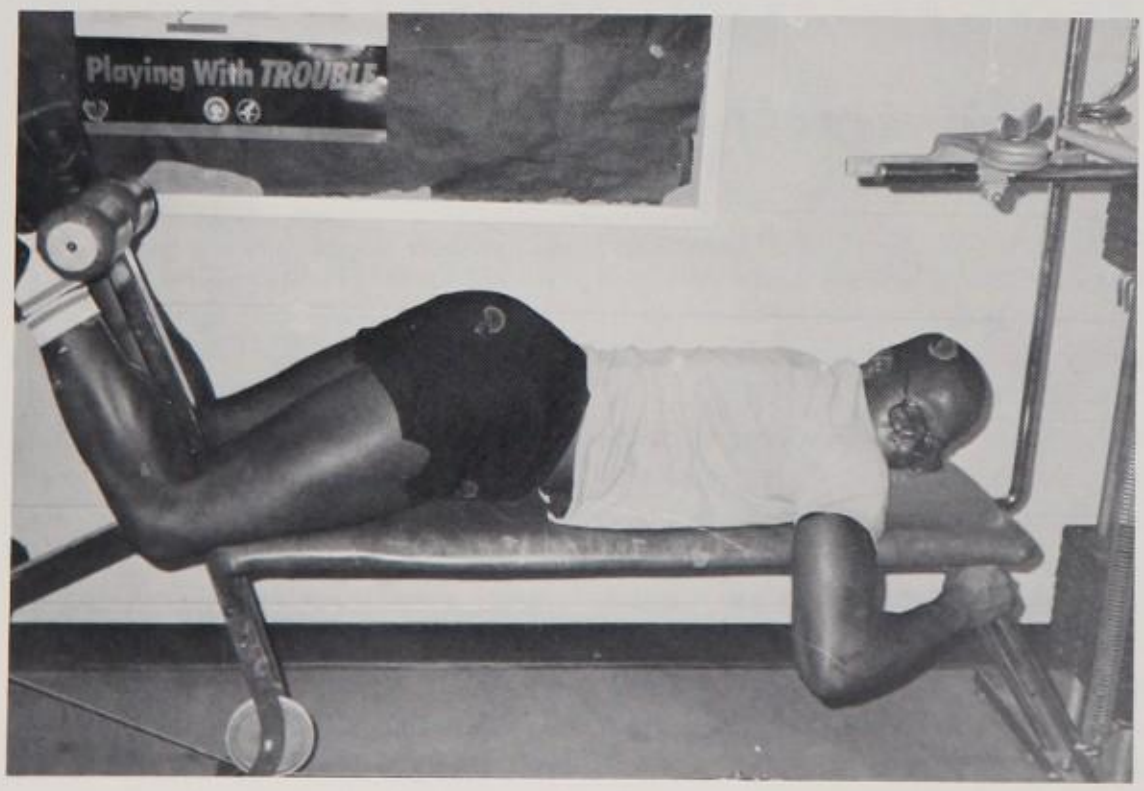
Well, Snider has the answer to the question: the PE department has everything to offer to health-conscious students.

Freshmen and sophomores had a semester of gym each year. Freshmen worked on group sports such as soccer, basketball, and volleyball. Meanwhile, sophomores concentrated on leisure sports: tennis, archery, and bowling were just a few of the activities played.

Sophomore Tricia Wigman said, "I'm so busy with my homework I hardly have any time to stay fit. I kinda like gym class."

For the fitness fanatics at Snider, the PE department showed these students that they were not forgotten. Snider offered advanced classes; juniors and seniors could take Bodybuilding, Gymnastics, Aerobics, plus a lot more.





Body Building is another gym class elective that many guys take to build up some "massive" muscles. Look out Arnold Schwartenegger!

This sophomore group works up a sweat during a challenging game of volleyball.

Classes start year with new texts

Starting out the year with new books stressing the wellness approach to health , Snider health classes were also mandated to present an AIDS curriculum to all students.

Concert Band sets tone

Instrumental artistry takes time

The Snider Concert Band had a very busy and productive year. The beginning of the year was spent learning and polishing music for this year's marching band competition show. They also tackled some difficult concert band arrangements for the Yuletide Festival, The Showcase Concert, and spring concert. The group also made musical contributions by getting the crowd fired up at pep sessions and setting the mood at graduation.

Musical director Jan Conser conducts the concert band during practice.

Chris Hite watches carefully so that he will come in at the right time on his bass.

Orchestra has given me a chance to perform different kinds of music at various concerts. These opportunities have been valuable to me since I plan to go into music.

Orchestra performs at concerts while competing in contests and entertaining many throught the year

Orchestra gives students a chance to develop talent in music and perform for many school functions, such as senior recognition and distinguished scholar award ceremonies.

The Snider Concert Orchestra, somewhat decreased in numbers this year, was by no means reduced in musical finesse. This year's orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Jan Conser and Mrs. Deb Kohlmeier, had many performance opportunities, including the Fort Wayne Community Schools Showcase Concert, the annual Yuletide Festival, the Spring Concert. They also performed in the pit for the spring musical production of "Hello Dolly".

Orchestra members also have the opportunity for musical involvement outside the classroom by competing in the ISSMA Contest or by participating in the Fort Wayne Youth Symphony which also performs many concerts throughout the year. With a variety of classical and contemporary literature, orchestsra students have the opportunity to express themselves through the medium of music.

Varsity choir pulls together

Whether you're planning to make a career out of singing or just plain like it, take-up varsity choir, or one of the many other choirs Snider offers. If you like to sing, you'll enjoy choir even if it is a serious course. First, Mr.Nicholas begins with the basics. This includes toning your voice so that it is in great quality for practice. But it's not as easy as it seems. Varsity choir music is made up of all types of selections, from folk to sacred. Choir challenges you in many ways. Tryouts for Varsity choir are not required. All in all, Varsity choir, along with swing choir, and concert choir, is a great expierence for those who like to sing.

Kim Guo was honored for her high academic achievement. She had the top grade point average ever made in Snider's history. It was a record breaking year!

Special times

There are many special times and special people that make a school a great place to be. Snider is just such a place!

Dean Beer and Kelli Allison pose after a fall pep session during which the volleyball team received flowers.

Donna Gill had an outstanding year in Snider athletics and will go down in Panther history as one of the Twin Towers along with her sister, Bonnie.

A school is said to be a place that holds the future. But it also holds the present. And each day brings a new beginning.

Whether it's your birthday or your day of glory on the playing field, it's your 'special time'. Yearbooks can capture those special memories for us to look back on and treasure as the years go by.

Perhaps some day we'll be proud to show our own children our accomplishments and our special days. Then all our work and effort will have paid off in the future as well as in the present.

Scroll Staff Increases

This year the Scroll staff increased in size over previous years. With the recruitment of writers and reporters to cover additional sports and stories, interest in the newspaper is growing. Good leadership and staff involvement in decision making has led to more student participation in recent years.

The attendance at summer workshops is also on the rise. With the growing sale of yearbooks and newspaper subscriptions more funds are available for this purpose. Students are able to attend the editorial workshops at Indiana University as well as the photography sessions in the summer.

The pre-planning of both publications helps the staffs handle the daily chores printing and publishering on time and with good quality work.

Pages may be designed in advance on the computer and the photographs fitted to the layouts in less time and with more precision than ever before. The computer program has enabled the students to get more accuracy and speed into these publications for a more professional result.

SCROLL Editor Kim Guo kept busy this year winning awards and guiding the newspaper staff in her usual efficient manner.

SAFARI wins Merit Award

How many students get to write a book every year? Not too many ever do, but the yearbook staff does . This year they received the First Place with Special Merit award from the American Scholastic Press Association. The Staff compiles the historical record of Snider High School including all its activities for the year. It takes a lot of cooperation and teamwork to get a book all pulled together in time for the deadlines at the publishing company. But somehow it all gets done!

The photographer is the backbone of the staff. Without good pictures the book could not be created. Students as well as professionals are needed to complete this awesome task. All sports have to be covered along with all the team pictures and events. Senior pictures and underclass as well must be displayed to perfection. All the clubs and activities of the year such as prom and homecoming have to be included.

But time is on our side. An event can't be reported until it happens. So everything in the book follows a schedule every year according to the calendar. The seniors are treated to a graduation cake and party at the end of the year and everyone relaxes after a job well done with a nice product to be shown for all the effort.

Yearbook editor Christine Toledo spends a lot of time at her desk in the publications room sorting through pictures to make up a good layout.

Clubs

Clubs at Snider make up a large part of a student's life. Through participation in club activities students are able to get together with friends and also meet new people with similar interests.

Foreign language clubs, which are probably the most popular at Snider, sponsored many activities that were not only fun, but also a great cultural experience.

Some clubs also sponsored activities to benefit the community. The Student Council brought much joy into the lives of those in the State School, by organizing a Christmas Party for them. The VIP club, which sponsored the Blood Drive and the carnation sale for Valentines Day, is a way for the students to get involved in our community.

Students who wanted to increase their leadership qualities made up a big part of clubs such as DECA and COE.

Club activities allowed Snider's students to learn how to get along with people as well as how to organize activities.

The Student Council had a fun and productive year. Debbie Weinswig, Mindy Sheets, Hetal Petal, and Christine Toledo get ready for the meeting to begin.

Grace Guo, are you the only person who is paying attention to what is going on?

Student Council provides leadership

The Student Council sponsored many activities this year. They started the year off with the kick-off dance. They also sponsored all the Homecoming events, including the tailgate party, car judging, powder puff game, and the dance. During the Christmas season they helped out with some very worthy causes. The annual Christmas party at the State Developmental Hospital was a big success. Toys were collected from all the area schools for distribution for the Toys for Tots campaign. Snider collected the most toys of all the area schools and won a DJ'ed dance from WMEE. They sponsored the winter semi-formal and the MORP. They also helped out with the North-Central evaluations and gave tours around the school. Student Council officers attend workshops with officers from other schools and gain insight into the running of a student government. Sponsored by English teacher, Bill Petroff, the group meets regularly in the TLR. They represent the total student body and are open to suggestions as to how they might better serve the needs of Snider High School.

Speech Team receives a 5th place at Sectionals

VIP sponsers blood drives and carnation sales to boost awareness of needs in the community ; service to others is their priority

The Speech Team had yet another succcessful year. They received an overall 5th place at the sectional speech meet held here at Snider. The Speech Team gives students an opportunity to perform in front of others and strengthen their public speaking skills. Members compete in areas such as: poetry, foreign extemporaneous, USA extemporaneous, drama, humor, duo interpretation, radio, impromptu, original oratory and prose.

Much hard work goes into preparing and in some cases even memorizing the speeches in their entirety. Speech Team increases the students' self-confidence and teaches them not to be afraid of public speaking. They are able to gain poise and self control and the practice will help them in their future career in any field.

The VIP Club, which stands for Very Involved Panthers, truly is involved with service to the school and community. By sponsoring two blood drives each year, which are large successes, the VIP group enhances the school's connection with the community's needs in a most direct way. Fort Wayne needs blood and our kids can give it. So they are allowed out of their classes and a full scale blood donor operation is set up in the gymnasium for this worthwhile purpose.

Also the more familiar carnation sales at Valentines Day help to raise money to help abused children through Daybreak. The club also paid for the new Christmas tree decorating the main hallway this year.

Mr. Russ Isaacs helped raise blood donations which brought in more than ever before. Here the Count attempts a sample from Susie Korte.

Spanish Club Strives for Excellence

This year's Spanish Club had the same goal it has always had . . . to strive for excellence. The Spanish Club, which is chaired by Senor de la Guardia and Senora Bower, sponsored many activities.

Some of those activities took place after school. These after school "Cultural Experiences" consisted of movies spoken in Spanish. Such activities helped students excel in their studies on this foreign language.

Fourth year Spanish students are still going to Glenwood Elementary once a week. Also this year, students participated in the National Spanish Exam. Of course it is no surprise that the Panthers did exceptionally well.

German Club Experiences Life

Exchange Students Tell How It Is

This year's German Club which was sponsored by Frau Bogges, was one of the busiest language clubs.

The German Club took part in many special events this year. Still as strong as ever, the club sampled German cuisine, learned German dances, and took part in many German traditions.

This year, like any other, Snider's German Panthers received the chance to find out how life in Germany really was. German exchange student Karsten Hogner answered any questions concerning his country.

As the years progress, many students realize the importance of another language and as one of these was quoted saying, "I'm really glad my parents have always pushed me to get involved in languages. I think it will give me an advantage over the competition in the working world."

Latin/French Clubs sponsor activities

Students enjoy traditional foods and culture sharing experiences with other groups

The French Club participated in many activities. Movies with English sub-titles were shown in the TLR. Students who've traveled to France shared their experiences. First-year members tried French pastries and other traditional French foods. The Reveillion, where they dressed up, ate French foods, sang French songs, and learned more about general traditions was held. In March, the club also held a dinner. The annual foreign language club picinic was held as farewell.

The Latin Club sponsors activities representing the customs and traditions of the ancient Romans. The club meets once a month to expand their knowledge of the Roman Empire. In October the members come together at a Noble Romans' Pizza party. The officers: Michelle Beard and Ann Larmore, were elected. In November Latin Clubs from around the city met at Pizza Hut. This gave students the opportunity to meet and talk about what they'd learned. The club also produced a videotape of Rome's celebration of Christmas.

SADD promotes sober driving Leads fight against alcohol

1987-88 was a successful school year for Snider's SADD group. Led by co-presidents Mike Fretz and Brittney Tyler, along with sponsor Thomas Pabst, SADD was able to take steps forward. The first step was a paper drive as a starting fund raiser. Next was sponsoring a dance after a home basketball game. Furthermore, they held the weekend alternative party at school which included movies, games, sports events, dancing, and lots of food. Snider's SADD group also participated in the Project Choice paper drive and getting students to sign petitions to party sober. It was a busy year but for a great cause.

COE students earn While they learn

The Snider Cooperative Education Association (COE) students can learn while they earn.

Juniors may participate in the Office Education Association (OEA). The junior year is spent learning secretarial skills, such as typing, word processing, and shorthand. Having mastered these skills a student may enter COE as a senior where they go to work in an office during the day.

COE coordinator Janet Hawley sets students up with good contacts and gives them a head start on a possible career position.

COE also makes important contributions to the school, such as putting together the student telephone directory and selling donuts for breakfast.

COE competes at the district, state and national level. The group sent three students to the national competition in Tennessee this year also.

DECA captures Sweepstakes trophy five years in a row in district

Beth Saferstein discusses plans with Mrs. Davis for the upcoming competition.

For the past five years the Snider High School Distributive Education Clubs of America local chapter (DECA) has captured the district Sweepstakes trophy and has been named DECA state champions for the past three years. This is quite an impressive record! DECA coordinator Peg Davis sends students to the national competition, which was held in Salt Lake City, Utah this year. Several placed well in the competition.

Through the distributive education program students learn while they earn at jobs in local stores and businesses. Since high school students are eager for part time work anyway, the classes they take enhance their job skills and competitive edge in the marketplace. Most jobs involve retailing, and marketing with customers in a business and they learn leadership and management techniques while earning a salary.

Super Bowl competes for Academic Honor Roll

The Snider Academic Hoosier Bowl team met some very tough competition this year. The team, now in its second year , competed at many contests throughout the city and the state. The Hoosier Bowl consistes of six teams in different aareas. These include: science, social studies, fine arts, English, math and all-around. The contestants prepare for weeks for the contests by studying material in their specific area. Much research is needed for the questions and answers cover a wide range of topics in depth.

At the contest the competing students are required to answer test-type questions on time. Whichever team answers the most total questions correctly wins and goes on to compete in further contests with other area and eventually goes to Indianapolis for the championship.

Problem Solvers Team Comes up with Solutions

The Future Probvlem Solvers Team is actually three teams in one consisting of a sophomore team, junior team, and senior team which attempts to come up with solutions for major problems in today's society. They compete at the local, state, and national levels. The team is given three different problems to research. This year's topics were: acid rain, space travel, and the elderly. During competition the students are given two hours to come up with a solution. They start with twenty sub problems and eventually narrow it down to one. The top ten teams get to compete at the state level and the top two teams go to Nationals.

The Future Problem Solving team may not solve all of the world's problems , but they do come up with intelligent answers and possible solutions to many problems which will be present for many years to come.

Extravaganza offers exciting evening

Entertaining acts display fashion and talent with a large variety number of participants

Each year, the Snider Afro-Heritage Club presents the Extravanganza. This event consists of a talent and fashion show with students modeling the latest in youthful attire for both school and parties. Singing, dancing and skits add variety to the fun-filled evening of entertainment which takes many months of planning and practice.

The show benefits the scholarship fund and helps defray costs of many activities throughout the year. Each year an outstanding student receives this award.

The group also particpates during the month of February in Black Awareness Month. During this time the spotlight is put on those American who have played a great role in history. They speak of the struggles and hardships of the black people.

Wind Machine soars on

The Snider Wind Machine, named after the upbeat jazz tune, played at many functions this year. They started off the year on a positive note by receiving a very high rating at the ISSMA jazz contest. Other festivals they attended were the Western Michigan University jazz festival, the Elmhurst jazz festival, and the Ball State jazz festival. Other highlights of the season were playing at a Cincinnati Reds game and performing at Sketchbook. The group also jazzed up the basketball games a little by performing at halftime for two of the home games, and also played at some of the pep sessions.

The Wind Machine is comprised of twenty-three of some of the best jazz musicians in the high school. Many of them have lots of experience in jazz and improvisation. With many hours of rehearsal almost every day after school, long sectional rehearsals and individual practice at home, the Wind Machine puts on a top-notch act. The Wind Machine is under the direction of Mr. Jack Gardner, assisted by Matt Scheibel.

Steve Noga steals the spotlight with his rendition of a jazz segment . Steve has been playing the baritone saxophone for some time.

Tim Daughterty waits for his cue during the after school rehearsals. The drummer provides the driving beat for a jazz group.

Director Jack Gardner's "laid - back" approach helps the musicians to relax and be creative with their musical talents.

JAZZ TOO

Jazz Too is Snider's second jazz band. It has 21 members who are mainly freshman and sophomores. The group is directed by Ms. Jan Conser.

Jazz Too explores a variety of jazz styles from standard to contemporary literature. They perform at numerous jazz festivals throughout the area as well as at Snider's talent show Sketchbook. They have recieved a first rating at ISSMA for three consecutive years.

Swing Choir shines on

Early bird singers swing

Not many students arrive at school at 7:00 a.m. but those who do are members of the "Jazz-Vocal Swing Choir". The jazzy group under the direction of veteran Carl Nicholas, gives about seventy concerts a year. In early March the swing choir participated in the ISSMA Jazz Contest at North Side. The choir received the highest score of all the groups in attendance. Senior Mark Lotter commented, "When you get high scores like that it makes all the hard work worth it."

Loosening up the vocal chords at 7:00 a.m. is no easy task for choir members.

Pantherettes add colorful halftime shows

The Pantherettes had an exciting and successful 1987-1988 school year. This year the Color Guard was made up of 53 dedicated girls and the captains were Adrienne MacMillan and Ericka Brietenbach. The Pantherettes are known as the "flag girls and dancers" during the football season, and as the "pom pon girls" during the basketball season. The fine performances are the result of the hard work these girls put in during the summer, fall, and winter seasons.

The season started right off with the first performance being a part of the Three Rivers Festival Parade on July 11. The next day was Fort Wayne Day at a Chicago Cubs baseball game and the Pantherettes performed during the National Anthem. The highlight of the summer was yet to come, the Pan Am Opening Ceremonies on August 8! An exhausting four days were spent practicing for the performance in 103° heat, until the big day arrived when the girls performed on the main stage.

To end the year, the Color Guard gave their last performance in Sketchbook. The Pantherettes have had a very busy, but successful year.

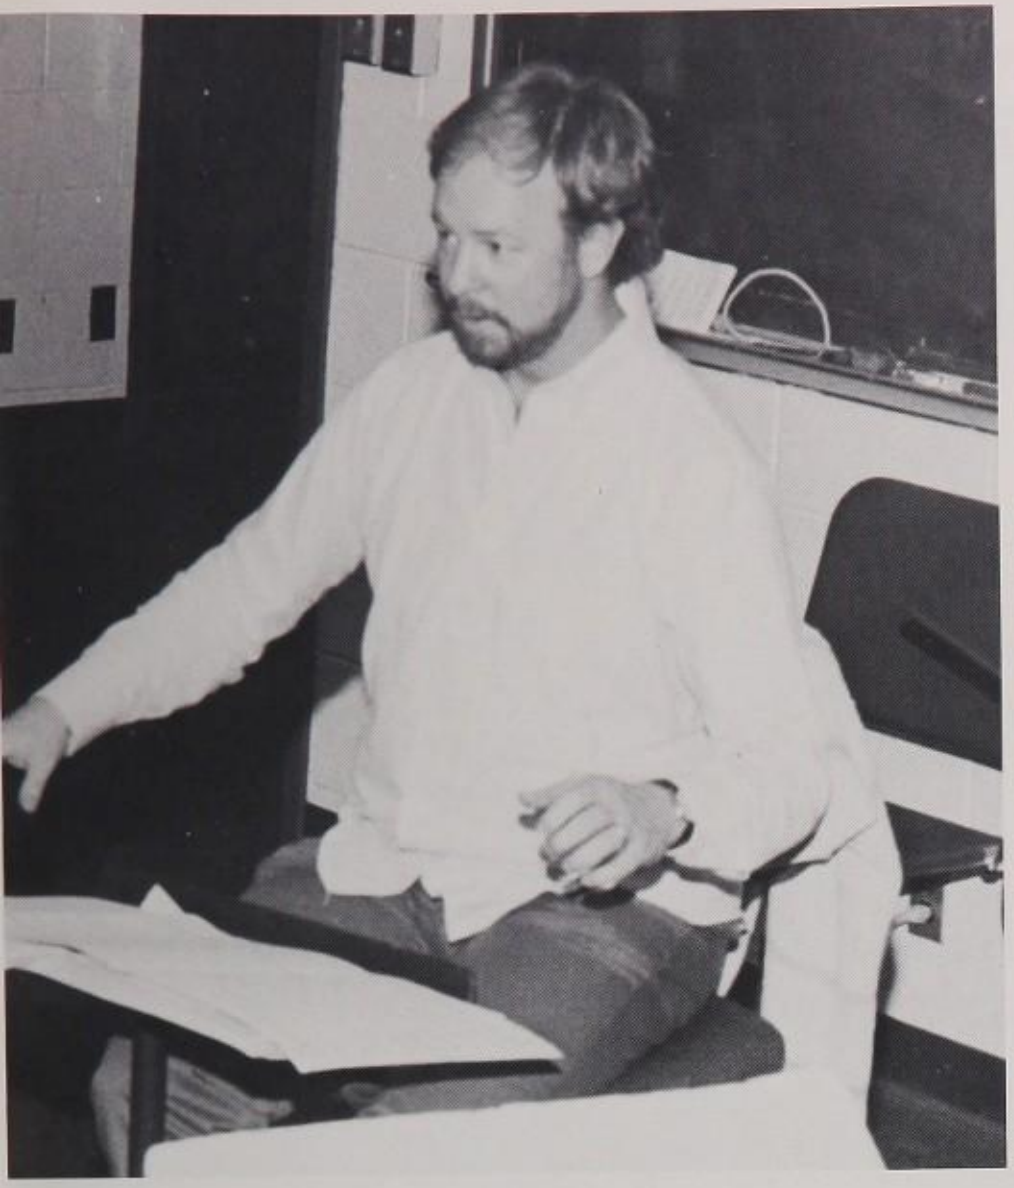
Mighty Panther Marching Band

The Mighty Snider Panther Marching Band had a very busy and successful season this year. The first performance for the group was the Three Rivers Festival Parade, which took place in July.

The following month, the ensemble made up approximately one-tenth of the 1,000 member marching band in the Pan Am Games' opening ceremonies.

During September and October the marching band competed in several contests around the state. The group placed third at the All City Festival, the Star City Festival, and the ISSMA District contest. The ensemble also snagged eighth place at the MBA Midwest Regional contest, where the group placed sixth, only one half of one point short of a berth in the State Finals.

Band members lead the singing of our school song at a pep session in the gym.



Mr. Gardner doesn't need a baton when he directs the band, only the free use of his hands with the music.

The band entertains the many fans at intermission during homecoming.

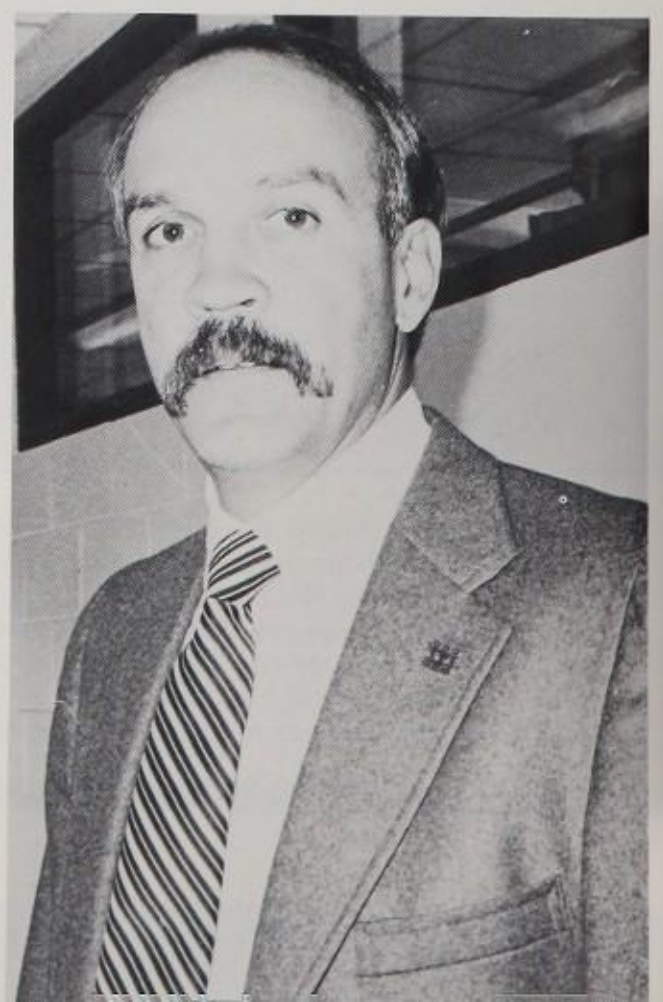
Administrative Staff

Snider's Administrative staff is one filled with experienced personnel dedicated to the growth and development of their students.

Through the pursuit of excellence in all phases of both academic and athletic programs, Snider has become a model for others to emulate. Its rich diversity of curriculum offerings and extra-curricular activities leave little more to be desired for today's bright and busy young people.

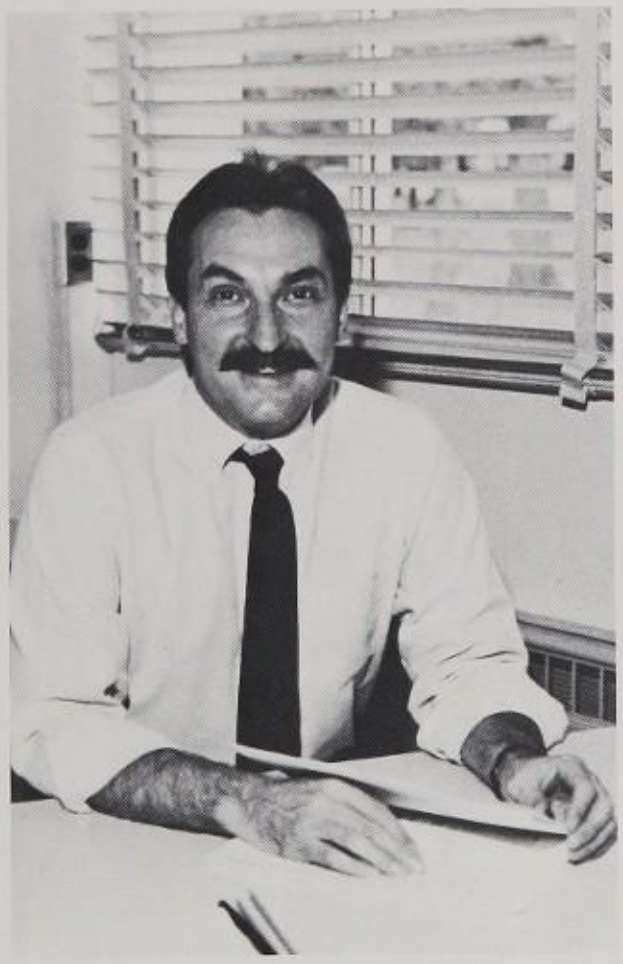
Dr. Sharon Banks has added her special talent and zest to our ranks.

Russ Isaacs's personality contributes to Snider's team spirit approach.



Jane Garber deals with many students in a day as assistant to principal.

There's no doubt about veteran Athletic Director Bob Armstrong's loyalty.



Guidance Coordinator Mark Clough is always ready to help students.

"We're from Snider and couldn't be prouder" echoes the spirited team.

The teaching staff makes every effort to contribute to the educational growth of the students. Few schools can boast of the numerous championships won by sports teams and awards and recognition received for academic achievements as well.

Everyone who is part of the Snider tradition of winning can truly be "proud to be a Panther!"

Behind The Scenes People Keep Snider Running Well

Snider High School doesn't run by itself. There are many capable people who go about the routine tasks of keeping school life humming smoothly. From food preparation to clean up, from paying the bills, to delivering the equipment, Snider's support staff is vital to the success of the school. Where would we all be if suddenly they all didn't show up? Working in the classrooms and the offices takes up most of the personnel here but though their numbers may be small their contribution is immeasurable.

The first thing that many students did was to turn to this section of the book to check out their picture as well as those of friends and "special" friends.

A great number of you Panthers will treasure this book for many years to come.

The rows and rows of students dressed in their best clothes and flashing their brightest smiles represent Snider's student body. Even though there will be some faces you may not remember and some you would rather not remember, each and every one of you has helped to make the 87-88 school year a very memorable one.

Whether it comes from joining in on the fun during the first football game to getting the perfect test back in Trigonometry or Chemistry, the 87-88 school year will not be easily forgottten.

In years to come as you think back on those good ole days of high school, you will turn to this section of the book to recall memories. Although the hairstyles and the fashions will have changed, the memories of our high school years will always be enclosed between these two covers.

NELSON AWARDS '88

The Nelson Awards have been a part of Snider tradition since its beginning. They are given in honor of our school namesake R. Nelson Snider, who was a distinguished educator in the fifties. Each senior class's officers have added a few new categories to update the awards and to best exemplify those people in their graduating class.

Senior Class surges ahead with spirit

The Class of '88 proved to be a most competitive group whose achievements marked up many firsts during the year. Seniors could be found in many key positions on varsity sports teams and in leadership roles related to academic endeavors as well.

The highlight of the year had to be the capturing of the state volleyball and girls basketball championships. These teams were made up of experienced senior athletes of the caliber of the Gill twins, Bonnie and Donna as well as Lori Stinson and many others.

Excelling in several academic contests in the math and science areas were Kim Guo and Ida Thong who both achieved many honors in their academic endeavors. Kim was recognized as being one of the top scholars in the state of Indiana by her SAT scores and all around activities and had the highest grade point average of any student to ever attend Snider High School. She also was active in the Speech team, student council and was Editor of the Scroll newspaper her senior year. These and many other Panther scholars and athletes make this senior class one to remember at having set high standards for the rest to follow.

Senior in the spotlight

One half of the "Twin Towers", starter for the state volleyball team and the state Basketball team, and an active member of the German club, who else but Donna Gill.

Donna started playing basketball in 7th grade under pressure from her parents, and believe it or not, didn't make the team the previous year. She continued throughout high school ending with a dream come true - the state Basketball Championship Win. Her Volleyball career started here at Snider. She played only four years, also ending with another State Championship under her belt. After much thought and consideration Donna decided to play Basketball at Purdue University, while majoring in Law Enforcement.

She would eventually like to become an FBI agent, and a stunt woman.

Donna comes from a family of eight. Mom Joanne, dad Gary, 2 brothers and 3 sisters, one of which happens to be her twin Bonnie. Says Donna, "We get along great most of the time and we really support each other in everything!" When asked what she does in her spare time, Donna replied, "Seeing movies (her favorites are Rocky 4, and The Big Chill) playing baseball and soccer, watching MTV, sleeping and eating seafood."

Donna often mentions her "ideal" goals, "some day I'll own the ultimate car, a Porsche 911 turbo, candy apple red. And I would kill for a date with Dolph Lundgren (the guy who played Rocky's opponent in Rocky 4).

Donna credits Mr. Lamar Kilmer her basketball coach as being the biggest influence. "We've been together for four years. Four years ... that's a lot!"

Donna has certainly left her mark (trophies, records, memories) at Snider and her name will echo the halls of Snider for a very long time to come.

Senior athlete extraordinaire, Donna Gill, leaves Snider with the advice to underclassmen, "Live every day as if it were your last."

What will you be doing in ten years

Senior Darren Vogt waves at the photographer as he delivers Guidance notices to the classrooms.

Senior Year. Many people thought it would never come. After Graduation students will leave the security of home and go out into the world, whether it be college, jobs, or starting a family. What will they be doing in five years, or even ten years from now? Some Snider seniors looked into their future and reported what they found! Darren Vogt: "I will hopefully have graduated from college and either be selling insurance, or in some kind of medical field." Nancy Heck: "Hopefully I will have finished my college education with my career underway. Maybe start a family outside of Fort Wayne."

Mike McKinney: "I'll probally end up with a beard and a gym bag wandering around Europe without a care in the world except where my next meal will come from." Lori Stinson: "I'll hopefully be on the pro golf tour making a lot of money. I might be married and I'll probally live down south somewhere." Karen Moore: "I hope to be established as a Business Consultant in a major metropolitan area, hopefully in the South." Mark Mayernick: "I probally will be working for a large company as an electrical engineer, and hopefully not married yet." Beth Vodde: "I'll probally have dropped out of college, married with eight or nine kids, and president of the local PTA. What a life!" Brett Van: "Ten years from now I'll probally be married to Kim, I'll be living on a lake, and be in a law enforcement career, but I'll be taking it nice and easy in the fast lane."

So as you can see, many students have given a lot of thought to where they would like to be in the next ten years. Most want big careers, tons of money, and a happy family life. Well, we'll see you at the ten year reunion.

Seniors Share Memories

Four years, in one place, is a very long time where a lot of funny things can happen. Everyone goes through humiliating or as we like to call them - embarrassing moments. Some seniors dared to share their most "secret "memories:

"My freshman year, the Wind Machine was going to Cincinnati for a contest. They had changed the time of departure without telling me. After waiting for me for about twenty minutes, Mr. Gardner had the bus drive to my house to pick me up!" — Shawn Wright

"When I fell down in front of 8,000 people at the Snider-Northside football game last year." — Brian Roberts

"It's hard to embarrass me but I have this dream where I come to School dressed in my underwear and I guess that would be pretty embarrassing." — Jeff Burdek

"I remember cheering at a basketball game at the Coliseum when I was a junior. The floorboards are about three inches above the concrete floor there and while cheering, I backed up, fell off — fell right down!" — Michelle Guthrie.

"Just sitting next to John Hall at the homecoming football game!" — Aaron Fultz

"A couple of friends and I were driving when the muffler fell off. We went to a gas station but the mechanic didn't tell us we had to get out of the car, so when he raised the car, we were still inside!" — Mickey Yamagishi

"The American Cancer Society was filming a national movie at Scott's (I work there) and I walked on the set. I was caught up in the excitement of the publicity; when all of a sudden the director says, 'cut! We got some people in the picture.' The store managers were standing right there." — Amy Peppler

"I'd just finished taking a shower after Phys Ed and was walking across the locker room when I dropped my towel. I looked to my right and saw a shocked looking woman in the teacher's office." — Matt Mertes

"When I am walking with my friends somewhere and they stop but I keep walking and I find myself talking to a bunch of strangers." — Mike Stetzel

These are the kind of memories that make high school a memorable experience, wouldn't you say? — Chris Toledo

Seniors offer advice

This year's senior class is even more unique than the usual senior class. The seniors here at Snider have one thing that no other class has—the knowledge that you gather after four years of high school.

Of course, some seniors willingly share their experience with the underclassmen.

Here are some words of wisdom from a few seniors:

Jodi Brubaker - "Get involved because it makes school a lot more fun and interesting."

Rich Burns - "Get involved with sports, clubs and activities so that you meet a lot of people."

Jeff Fenn - "Set your goals early and hit the books hard."

Mandy Georgi - "Study hard and don't blow school off."

Donna Gill - "Live each day as if it were your last."

Fred Jentgen - "Be a part of everything you possibly can so that you have as many great memories."

Adam Reef - "Don't take yourself too seriously."

Kim Guo - "Don't be afraid to get involved as soon as you come to Snider. Start early and don't wait until you're a junior or senior to get involved. Because the sooner you start the more experience you have and that way you'll become an expert in your last year at Snider."

Jamie Renbarger - "When you're in your second semester senior year don't let 'senioritis' take over."

Pat Woods - Get the most out of high school because the memories will last a lifetime."

Amy Peppler - "Try to make friends with as many people as you can from all different places and clubs so that you don't become one monotonous person.

Seniors Mandy Georgi, Mark Musser and Pat Woods share a night out talking about the good times.

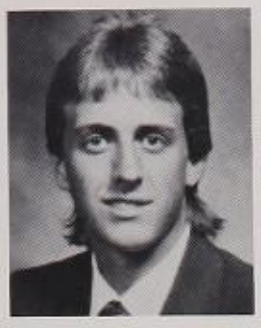
T.J. Brooks -"It was a great night that I really enjoyed getting together for the last time with the class."



Russ Isaacs-"I enjoyed the opportunity to laugh and joke with the members of the class of '88."

Kim Guo-"The most special moment for me was giving the Val/Sal speech with Ida and being in the spotlight."

Enjoying the antics of emcee Mr. Isaacs, senior Cama Fowble looks on in anticipation.

Senior Recognition and Banquet hold lasting memories for class of '88

Witty news columnist Nancy Nall entertains guests at the senior banquet this year. She was the key speaker.

On Wednesday evening, May ll, in the Snider auditorium the senior class gathered in their caps and gowns to receive awards and shed a tear or two on this momentous occasion. Many seniors were recoginized for outstanding achievements in every category from perfect attendance to highest grade averages. Also included in the program was the senior gift of a banner to the school. On another night at the Marriott, May 23, the emcee for the evening was our own Assistant to the Principal, Russ Isaacs, who introduced local newspaper columnist, Nancy Nall, the guest speaker. The dinner may be routine but the memories were special for each class to experience in their own way.

The face of Coach Beerman is beaming as he gives Kim Kumfer a special award for her good attitude.

Mr. McClurg's face reveals his delight with Jenny Herman and her achievements at Snider.

The many faces of the faculty as they dutifully sing their parts is typical of Snider staff unity.

Respectfully called our "scheduling guru", Assistant Principal Leon Youngpeter delivers speeches.

Athletic Director Bob Armstrong honors a proud -faced Ron Humphrey at the athletic banquet.

All dressed up and wearing a smile is prom queen and her obliging escort Mr. Isaacs.

Famous faces at Snider High School are around us all the time though we may not even be aware of them. These are the people who stay here year after year and run the school long after we go our separate ways.

We may come into contact with these faces for a brief moment to receive as award, or for a congratulatory handshake. They may have distibuted thousands of awards and diplomas over the years.

These people are professional educators, counselors, athletic directors, coaches and teachers whose lives and careers are inextricably tied to the youth of our community. Where would we be without them and they without us. Their faces are famous not only to those of us who see them this year but for many of our parents as well!

Those familiar faces we see

They give us awards and they shake our hands and do so much more too

Class of '89 moves upward

As the Juniors moved one year closer to graduation, anticipation grew. The class of '89 also experienced many firsts in their third year of High School.

The annual Powder Puff game was played by a good percentage of junior girls on a cold night in September. Even though the girls lost the game to the seniors, they have fond memories, plus experience to excel in next year's game.

Another big event was, how could anyone forget, Prom. This was the first official year that any Junior could attend the Prom. Dresses would be bought, and corsages would be ordered. Just one more "first" for the Juniors.

Decisions were another thing the Juniors concentrated on. One started thinking of college and taking grades a little more seriously. Many students held jobs as well keeping up with the demands of school work and extra-curricular activities.

How could one be involved with so many new experiences and not get an over abundance of activities? Easy, the Junior class could handle everything that came their way. Part of being an upper classman was being able to incorporate all the aspects of being a Junior in High School with trying to fit into the big picture of the real world.

Happy juniors Jason Savaadra, Ryan Mee, Jenni Hullinger and other classmates seem delighted to be distracted from their class.

Douglas loves outdoors and competition

One name that everyone seemed to hear and know at the beginning of the school years was Brandt Douglas. Being in his third year of high school and on the varsity boys' cross country team, he seemed to know all of the right moves. Not only did he know the moves that had already been around, but he also invented some of his own.

Brandt has always been active outdoors. At the age of ten, he started to develop his running skills.

Going to state was a very memorable event for this first-paced junior. "I was so excited and hyper that day. It was fun and nerveracking all at the same time." Out of many students who made it to the state finals, Brandt came in to place 114th in the state.

Brandt also enjoys playing basketball, is a sports enthusiast, and loves to relax. Not only does he run and attend school, but he also works at Instant Copy and McDonalds.

Brandt concluded by saying, "I run because I like to be outside. I love competing against other people. I feel very alive and excited when I run."

Juniors prepare for college entrance and testing

Many juniors at Snider spend a lot of time worrying about those college entrance requirements and if they'll be able to keep up their grades. Courses become more demanding in the eleventh grade and students need to write research papers and read novels of more intense nature.

After spending so much time studying grammar in the sophomore year, juniors tend to think they must know it all by now only to be hit with newer approaches to literature and writing. With the new requirements for graduation, many juniors are rethinking the value of summer school enrichment courses to round out their programs.

Whatever plans lay ahead down the road, the juniors are at a crucial point in time making decisions that will determine their chances for success or not.

Though many of you may think next year is going to be all fun and parties, as Mark Wandmacher states, "Next year I will try to stay out of trouble and get the best grades I can."

The most important thing for most juniors right now is to get that piece of paper that sends them out into the "real" world.

Friends are nice to have around when you need them

What would life be like without your friends? One of the most important things about high school days is the friendships you can make. Many of the kids have been together since elementary school. They live in the same neighborhoods or ride the same buses together and share many of life's bittersweet moments of growing up. Some students have been in the same classes with others so much they are aware of their skills more than the teacher.

It's so nice to have a friend to call when you're bored and have nothing to do. Maybe you could go and hang out together at the mall or even do homework together if you're desperate for companionship.

There's nothing like a friend when you're down and the world is against you and even your dog is feeling down.

Life can be a bummer some time but when you see your friend come driving up and she says, "Let's go to McDonalds" then you know you just might survive after all. A Friend in need is a Friend indeed!

Sophomores Look Ahead

1-9-9-0 we're the class of '90, YEAH — RAH — SOPHOMORES!

The sophomore class, glad to no longer be titled as the "little guys" of the high school, scuccessfully completed their second year here at Snider. They started off the year by providing an opportunity for the freshmen to mingle by sponsoring the freshmen mixer.

During Homecoming week the sophomores proved to have great school spirit by decorating their hall, and the girls again showed their strength by defeating the freshmen in the tug-of-war game.

This year's sophomore class will be the first to graduate in the 90's. This class has added many contributions to Snider.

Veteran English teacher Randall Rusk asks his students if they know what a gerund is now.

Class Officers: standing Tim Bower, vice-president; Matt Green, president; Jill Reecer, treasurer; Michelle Wise, secretary.

Bemiss chooses activities

Some students may appear to be quiet and reserved in the classroom but their minds are as active as can be. One such sophomore is petite , dark-haired Julie Bemiss.

If you've heard the name before it's probably because of her more outspoken brother Jeff, co-anchor of Panthers Pause and star of numerous Snider drama productions.- But Julie is not to be outdone! Her talents are plentiful also. She's actively involved with the Speech team at Snider and is on Student Council, just for starters. Julie participated in the fall play, spring musical as well as the Snider summer drama program.

Then there is her interest in writing which she pursues by being on the school newspaper staff of THE SCROLL, as a reporter her freshman year, and editorial writer and later being appointed assistant editor for her junior year.

And let's not forget her honor roll grade average and general good citizenship to top it all off. This young lady is a good example of what a typical high school girl of the eighties can do — just about everything! But quietly.

Geoff Griffith is deep in thought as he tries to complete the biology experiment before the bell rings.

Clothes Can Make A Difference In How We Feel

While walking down the halls at Snider many types of clothes can be seen. Whether it's leather and studs or cashmere and lace, everyone definitely has his/her own style. "I like to wear the newest Bad Dog' shirts and a good pair of Guess jeans", said Chris Hite, a junior. Tiffanie Nagley, a sophomore prefers clothes that are "Casual and comfortable." Clothing is more than something to keep us warm and cover our bodies. The type of clothes we wear says something about who we are. It is a personal statement. Maybe that's why most people put some thought into what kinds of clothes they buy when they are shopping at the store. You can sometimes even tell what kind of mood someone is in by the clothing that he/she wears. Today, there seems to be an even wider variety of clothing to choose from in the stores than in the past. Just about anything goes. There are however, more popular styles that prevail, like Guess clothing, miniskirts, stonewashed denim clothes and Lizwear.

Davis runs with the pack

During the cross country season, sophomore Jason Davis played an important role in the team's success. Davis began running during the early part of the summer. With three months of lifting weights and building up stamina, he gave a strong performance in every meet. Since this was his first year competing Davis proved himself by running varsity in second place, just behind Brandt Douglas, a junior.

In the SAC Jason took 11th place and in sectionals he finished 17th. His personal best in running the 3.5 was 17.06.

Sophomores Offer Advice

Finally their first year of High School was over. The class of '90 made it through their freshman year. Now as Sophomores, 10th graders could look back and laugh on their first year at Snider. When asked "Why are you glad you're not a freshman anymore?", a lot of Sophomores said, "We're just glad to be out!" A few did give other comments. Sophomore Cassandra Snow said, "I like being able to express myself without being considered a silly freshman." Also a sophomore, Doug Dollarhite added, "I don't have to be picked on anymore. No I don't miss that at all.

On the other hand, Stephanie Ledbetter thought, "I liked being a freshman, you can get away with anything."

Being a sophomore meant getting more involved with the school's social activities. They could look forward to P.S.A.T. tests. On a more fun note, Powder Puff and a better chance for Prom.

Some sophomores were just glad to be sophomores. Chris Ford revealed, "I'm not the youngest, (baby) anymore. It's nice to think there's one whole grade lower than me."

In order to graduate, all students had to face their freshman year. It was and always will be apart of High School.

Waiting patiently for class to begin, this lively group of sophomores enjoy a few moments of conversation.

Heave-ho! The mighty sophomore panthers give it all they've got to defeat the frosh in the tug-o-war.

These four sophomores, Krystle Gilley, Lori Brandriff, Ann Larmore and Gina Fowble gather around for a Biology class project.

Freshmen Find New Challenges

The freshman class came to Snider thinking they were prepared. It turned out that most found they weren't as prepared as they thought they were.

A couple of freshmen polled felt that Snider was the same as their other school only bigger. Whereas many others felt that Snider was totally different.

The cliques and the faculty's attitudes and philosophies were a big change for many. Grades were a conflict for some.

What most agreed upon was that the freshmen weren't at the top anymore, they were at the bottom. This didn't bother some, though. This year was just another step closer to graduation.

Class officers are: seated, President Julie Fast, standing from left to right are Amy Eckert, Vice President; Amy Rite, Secretary; and Nicki Gansert, Treasurer.

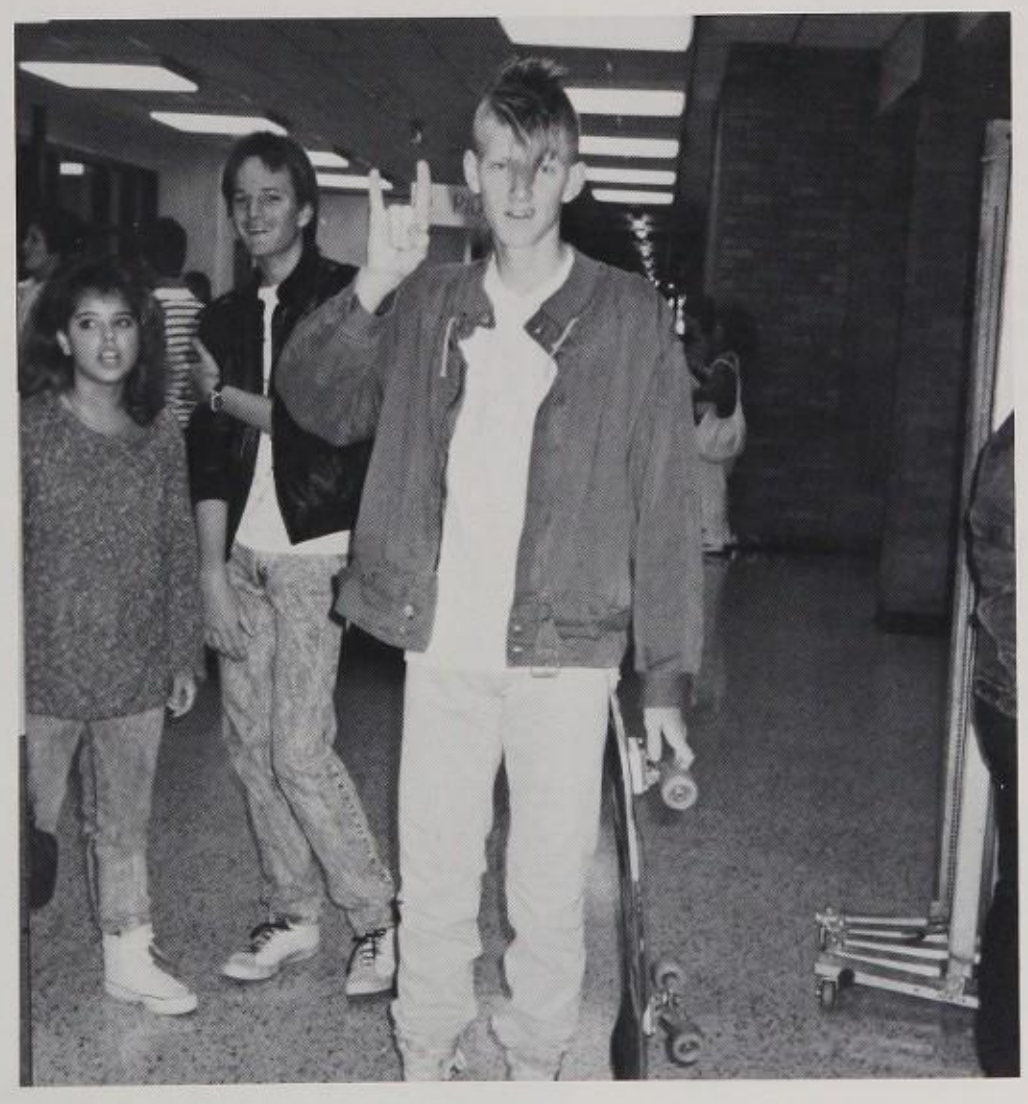
A Hot New Craze

There's a hot new craze at Snider and around Ft. Wayne this year and it's not really very new.

What IS new is the "cult" that's grown up around this handy mode of transportation. A certain style of dressing and even a far-out hair 'style' have become the newest fad around suburbia. Not everyone dresses up for it though.

Most kids in the age group that do skateboards a lot, just haven't got their licenses yet and so it's a neat easy way to have your wheels around when you need to get up and go.

It's also good exercise and a whole lot less boring than sitting around after school watching TV.



Freshman Brian Nycum is ready to begin his daily workout with his skateboard.

Skateboarding is something that has been with us for some time now. But it is often looked upon differently from other sports.

Brian Nycum, an avid skateboarding enthusiast says, "Skateboarding is not as easy as most people think it is. It's like any other sport, a person has to practice to do well at it."

All of the skateboarders asked said they dislike the way many people act towards them.

As Heath Farifax explained, "I don't think skateboarders should be judged by people. We are put down a lot."

Eric Heston agrees and adds, "We are just like any other athlete. We have a sport that we enjoy."

Although skateboarders have received controversy this year at Snider, they say that they do it for pure enjoyment.

Marc Stevenson sums up the skateboarders' feelings best by saying, "We just do it for fun!"

Freshmen Talent

In recent years gymnastics has come into the forefront as a competitive and highly respected sport. Janine Lothamer is one of Snider's best. Her interest started while watching a competition on TV. She then asked her mother if she could take lessons and has been extremely dedicated since. When asked what her greatest accomplishment was Lothamer replied that her best all-around score on the first meet was a great achievement here at Snider. One of her achievements outside of school was her competition in the junior Olympics last year where she received third place on vault. Lothamer has a solid record at Snider and hopes her success will continue throughout her high school career and beyond. One of her goals is to attend college with a gymnastics scholarship, of course!

Janine Lothamer preforms one of her winning routines on the beam competition.

Freshmen Victorious Tug-of-War

One of the new experiences for freshmen was homecoming week. Participating in the many activities including the tug-O-war contest before the game which they won and the dance was a big hit with the frosh. It was a chance to let loose after the disappointing loss to Dwenger. Other fun activities were dress-up day, the pep rally, and the tailgate party. One freshman wrapped up the general feeling during Homecoming with the comment "Good vibrations filled the air."

PUBLISHING
MARCELINE, MISSOURI, U.S.A.

COLOPHON

Volume 23 of the Snider High School's Safari was printed on 80 lb. paper by Walsworth Publishing Company of Marceline, Missouri.

The cover has black ink and gold metal gloss applied to a marble-white leathertone material.

Endsheets were printed in 10% black with copy and lines 100% black. The design strip was 50% black.

All copy was submitted using the Comtram Computer Program.

A year of firsts, and a first class year!
